Senate Committee Votes 'Heartache' Tax Bill Last Eve

Passage Next Week is Aim of Democratic Leaders Today

Washington, Aug. 30—(AP)—Leaders sought to line up senate votes today for prompt approval next week of the finance committee's $5,672,400,000 revenue bill biggest in history and termed "a heartache to the taxpayers" by a finance committee.

The bill, estimated by the treasury to yield $456,000,000 more than a similar measure approved by the house, would hit both individuals and corporations and increase existing taxes all along the line.

In raising $84,500,000 additional from so-called "nuisance taxes" it would impose new levies on the man who buys an automobile or a saxophone, an electric light bulb or a washing machine.

It would lower existing income tax exemptions from $2,000 to $1,500 for married persons and from $500 to $750 for single individuals, thus bringing more than 6,000,000 additional persons under the federal income tax structure.

"This bill is unfortunate but necessary," declared Senator Johnson (D-Col.). "We did manage to spread the burden of taxation. The bill has been a headache to us and it will be a headache to the taxpayers."

Senator George (D-Ga.), chairman of the finance committee, expressed the opinion that "the treasury estimate of $5,672,400,000 is too low; the legislation will yield about $4,000,000,000 a year."

Will Study Working
Although generally approving the bill yesterday afternoon, the committee arranged to study its wording for possible technical corrections at a meeting next Tuesday. The measure will be brought to the senate floor Wednesday, and Democratic Leader Barkley is hopeful of winning passage by next Saturday.

Before the measure goes to the president, however, the differences between the senate and house bills will have to be adjusted in con-

Britain Unfit for Cooperative World Says Axis Source

BY LOUIS F. LOCHNER

Berlin, Aug. 30—(AP)—The England of the present mentality can have no share in Europe's new order as designed by Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini, authorized sources commented today following the sixth and longest meeting of the two dictators since the war began.

"England arrogates to itself the right of playing minister of interior everywhere," the spokesmen said, "hence she is unfit for a Europe of cooperation."

Remarks of A. A. Berle, assistant U. S. Secretary of State, that the next era would be American were described as another example of plutocratic powers trying to meddle in world affairs.

Berle, in a speech before the Williamstown (Mass.) Institute of Human Affairs, asserted Thursday night that the next era would be the "American century" only if the "word 'American' is taken in its broadest, finest sense". He added that "it is plain destiny" that the future falls in a large measure to the United States.

"America for Americans," the German sources said, "is agreeable to us but the United States should keep hands off elsewhere. We have no ambitions whatever in the Americas. But leave us alone, please."

New State Created

As proof that the European new order is in the process of development the sources cited the creation of the new Siberian state under Field Marshal Milan Nedice, former Yugoslav minister of war and navy. Creation of the state was announced here yesterday.

"This occurrence shows how the axis is willing to give opportunity to the individual European peoples to assume responsibility within their own living space," the comment continued.

When it was called to the attention of the Germans that the principles proclaimed by Hitler and Mussolini following their conferences contained nothing new, these sources jubilantly responded:

Perfectly true—when one has a good thing there is no need of substituting something else for it. These principles were enunciated long before the eight-point program and in their simplicity contrast favorably with the far-flung, impractical Roosevelt-Churchill program."

Inseparable

Libertyville, Ill., Aug. 30—(AP)—Born in the same English town, passengers to America on the same boat in 1891, and dwelling less than two miles apart for 45 years, two women here were separated by death only four hours.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gleason, 69, a widow, died early yesterday. Mrs. Kate Meaker, 68, wife of Sidney Meaker, a gardener, died about four hours later.

The women, lifelong friends will be buried in Lakeside cemetery Sunday, after separate services.

Negro Sex Slayer of 'About 10' Is 'Sorry He Did It'

Washington, Aug. 30—(AP)—Jarvis R. Catoe, 36-year-old negro who calmly told police he had choked to death "about 10" women, today attributed the sex slayings in part to the reading of detective thrillers.

"I have spells," he told Ira Keck, assistant detective chief who questioned him.

The prisoner added that "I feel like that" after reading detective stories about rape cases, and looking at obscene pictures.

Keck asked the negro how often he had such "spells".

"I don't know," replied the prisoner. "I have them sometimes when I drink a little wine, but not always."

Catoe appeared quite composed yesterday as he talked slowly on his fingers the 10 slayings he admitted.

Seven Identified

Seven of the victims have been identified by his statements. One of them was Jessie Elizabeth Strieth, 23-year-old war department clerk from Des Moines, whose death touched off a congressional investigation of the District of Columbia police system.

Another was Mrs. Evelyn D. Anderson, a Bronx waitress who was slain August 4. It was her death that set New York police on Catoe's trail.

Catoe also admitted slaying four Washington negro women since December 1, 1939.

"I did wrong," he told Keck, "and I'm glad to get it off my mind. I did it and I'm sorry."

"I've got to give my life, but I'm glad it's off my mind."

Kansas City Chief of Police Resigns Today

Kansas City, Aug. 30—(AP)—Chief of Police Lear B. Reed, former Federal Bureau of Investigation agent appointed to head the Kansas City police department two years ago during a municipal cleanup campaign, resigned early today.

Reed handed his resignation to the board of police commissioners after a night-long conference session. The resignation was accepted effective September 30, the board appointed Capt. Harold G. Anderson, a police radio dispatcher and veteran of 17 years on the department, to succeed Reed.

Complaints had been lodged recently against Reed and members of the police department by Negro leaders of Kansas City charging discriminatory action and alleged brutality by policemen against members of their race.

Edgar Shook, police board chairman, however, emphasized that no recent or current considerations had anything to do with Reed's resignation. Shook said Reed had told him a month ago that he intended to quit.

Free Barbecue

Greenview, Ill., Aug. 30—(AP)—William Green and John Anderson had $5,000 worth of barbecue on their hands when their meat-hauling transport truck overturned near here.

The kindling, cost $2,500. It was the truck which burned.

In luck were persons who visited the scene. With sanction of the crew, motorists helped themselves to the cooked meat.

Employees of Illinois Automotive Firms Get $71,000,000 Annual Wage

Washington, Aug. 30—(AP)—Employees of Illinois automotive firms receive more than $71,000,000 a year in wages, according to a study of government statistics issued today by the National Automobile Dealers Association.

This figure represents 10 percent of the state's total retail and wholesale trade pay roll. L. C. Cargile, association president, said that new and used car dealers and accessory, tire and battery dealers account for $31,249,000 of this total. Filling stations pay out $12,091,000, petroleum bulk stations $9,210,000 and other wholesalers, general automotive repair shops, top and body shops, storage garages, parking lots and other specialized operations make up the rest of the total.

Control of Export of Oil to Nippon May Be Tightened

Japanese Overtures Fail to Make Any Change in Plans

Washington, Aug. 30—(AP)—A further tightening of restrictions on petroleum shipments to Japan is under study by export control authorities. It was learned in informed quarters today, despite Japanese overtures designed to achieve a peaceful solution of the critical situation in the Far East.

Oil has been responsible in part for the strained relations between the United States and Japan. The tense situation culminated in Japanese representations to Washington and Moscow against American oil exports to Russia at a time when shipments of high-grade oil and gasoline to Japan have been embargoed and all other petroleum products placed under a strict licensing system.

Pending the outcome of talks to be held by President Roosevelt, Secretary Hull, and Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, the Japanese ambassador, officials indicated that no final decisions would be made on the export control administrative measures under consideration.

The Roosevelt-Hull-Nomura conferences are expected as a result of a personal message from Prince Fumimaro Konoye, the Japanese premier, to the president.

Note Remains Secret

While the text of Konoye's message remained a closely guarded secret between the White House, state department, and Japanese embassy, it was generally believed to open the way for a candid discussion of conflicting American and Japanese policies.

Officials explained that the proposed tightening of oil export restriction was not a new regulation, but revolved around the interpretation of Roosevelt's order placing all petroleum exports on a quota basis and limiting the issuance of licenses to "usual or pre-war quantities".

When the order was issued on August 2 it was authoritatively reported that "pre-war" meant before the Japanese invasion of China in July, 1937, but it was learned in informed quarters to-

Southard Refuses to Accept Ruling

Philadelphia, Aug. 30—(AP)—The Veterans of Foreign Wars, who reprimanded and then reinstated Illinois Commander Earl Southard at the concluding session of their 42nd national encampment, apparently haven't heard the last of the controversy.

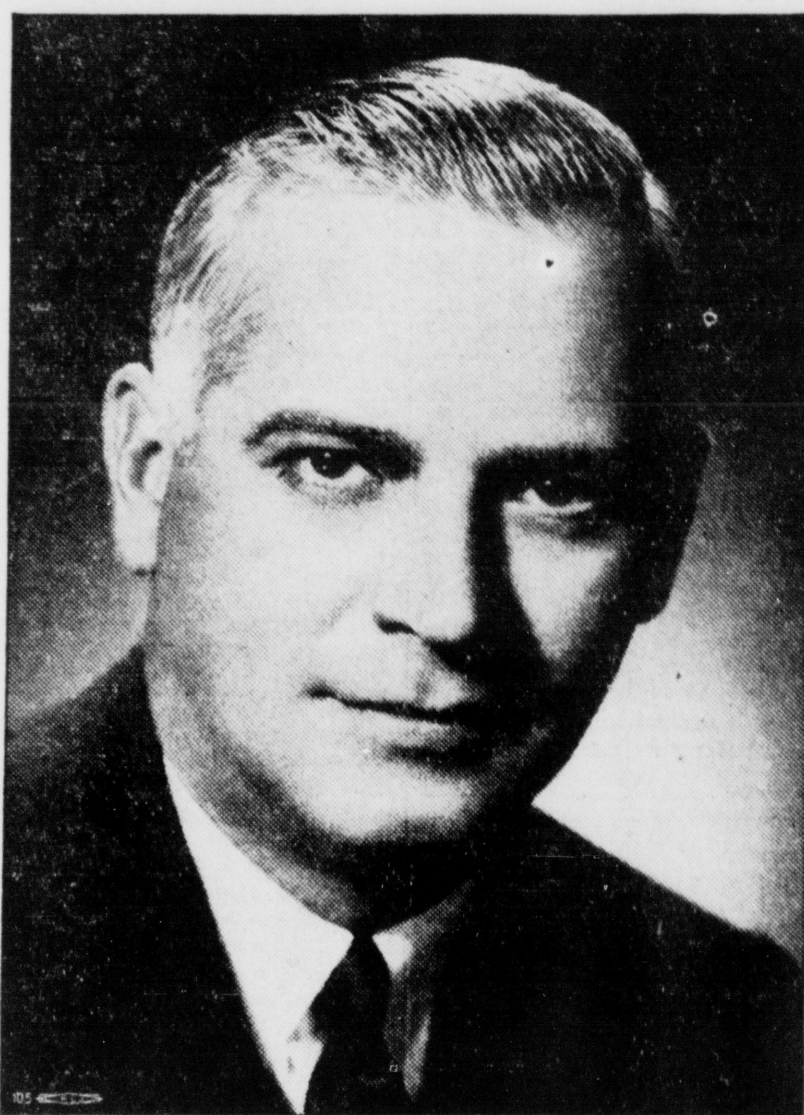

Incensed over being court-martialed because of his activities as secretary of the Keep American Out of War Committee, Southard refused to accept the reprimand and his seat as a convention delegate.

William J. Grace, attorney and past Illinois department commander who tried in vain to "present the facts of this thing" to the convention, declared libel action would be brought against those responsible for what Southard termed his "persecution".

Grace was ruled out of order yesterday when he tried to defend Southard after retiring National Commander Joseph C. Menendez announced reinstatement of the Illinois leader and called on him to conduct himself "in a manner of a loyal member of this organization".

The reprimand was recommended by 10 past state commanders who heard charges that Southard violated his VFW oath of allegiance to the government by signing a handbill with others that advocated "no obedience" to the lease-lend bill.

Dixon's Guest of Honor Tuesday

GOVERNOR DWIGHT H. GREEN

Chief Executive of the state of Illinois who will stop in Dixon at 11:45 o'clock Tuesday morning on his inspection of the Lincoln Highway from Geneva to Sterling to make a brief non-political address from the porch of the Hotel Nachusa. He will be greeted by the Dixon Municipal band and Co. A. Third regiment Illinois Reserve Militia, will form a guard of honor for him during his stay here. Citizens are asked to turn out en masse to greet the governor at this time.

Business men and residents along the historic highway are asked to display their flags during the day in honor of the governor who after a luncheon and address in Sterling, will return to Dixon with his party in the afternoon. Through the courtesy of the directors of the Rock River Country Club the distinguished visitors will enjoy a round of golf at the country club and then proceed to the White Pines state park, where they will spend the night.

A brief session of the city council was held last evening at which time the regular bills were paid. Joe Robinson presented the commission with an Americanism poster.

Fined in Police Court

Louis and Florence Schwartz paid fines of $1 and costs in police court yesterday afternoon when arraigned before Police Magistrate James E. Bales on charges of disturbing the peace. Patrolman Seagren was called to Jackson avenue yesterday afternoon where the couple were reported to have created a disturbance with a group of children.

Foe of Roosevelt Foreign Policies Wins in Wisconsin

Janesville, Wis., Aug. 30—(AP)—Lawrence H. Smith, national chairman of the American Legion Child Welfare Committee, was elected to the house of representatives by First district voters yesterday after he campaigned against the foreign policies of President Roosevelt.

The five counties in the district gave Smith, a Racine attorney who is also a former state commander of the Legion, 26,657 votes, against 16,942 for his opponent, Thomas R. Amle, of Elkhorn, who ran as a Democrat. Smith is a Republican.

Amle, who has served in congress as a Republican and a Progressive, pledged outright support to Roosevelt's international policies.

Smith charged that the president had usurped congressional authority. He favored a strong defense program, "economically provided," and maintained that this country should not get into war unless first attacked. He had the support of the America First Committee.

His campaign also was aided by a "Send Mr. Smith to Washington" club.

But Two Candidates
The election filled the seat left vacant by the death of the late Representative Stephen Bolles.

Smith and Amle were the only candidates in the election, one of the few two-party races in recent history of this traditional three-party state.

State Senator Kenneth L. Greenquist of Racine, a Progressive, failed to draw enough votes in the primary to qualify for a place on the ballot.

The La Follette brothers backed Greenquist in the primary over Amle, who was put forth as a Democratic-Progressive coalition candidate. A separate Progressive

Mr. Butts' Buts All Over Cement Paving

Harry Butts of Denver, Colo., driving a large refrigerated truck, containing 4,000 fresh frozen ham butts to Chicago, escaped uninjured when the truck overturned at the junction of routes U. S. 30 and state route 2 south of Galt yesterday, scattering 26,000 pounds of frozen pork over the highway and right of way. The truck was making the turn from route 2 onto 30 when the load was reported to have shifted and the trailer tumbled over on its side.

Frozen ham butts in barrels and boxes burst through the side of the truck and were scattered about on the paving and shoulders. Sergeant Edward Mahan of the state police force was dispatched to the scene where he guarded the salvaged and soiled ham butts until Driver Butts was able to load his cargo into another truck, which proceeded to Chicago.

Successful Aerial Attack Over Ocean Impossible; Lindy

Flier Delivers Speech in Oklahoma City's Base- ball Park

Oklahoma City, Aug. 30—(AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh, denied the municipal auditorium, took his plea against American intervention in the war to an improvised stadium on the western edge of the city last night.

An orderly crowd, which Sheriff George Goff estimated at 10,000, heard Lindbergh and Sen. Burton K. Wheeler (D-Mont.).

Lindbergh asserted that neither America nor Germany could successfully attack the other by air.

"It seems clear to me that the quickest way for Germany to lose a war would be to attack America and the quickest way for America to lose a war would be to attack Germany," the flyer said at Sandlot park where semi-pro baseball teams usually meet.

The aviator was greeted with applause punctuated with scattered boos when he was introduced by Herbert K. Hyde, former U. S. district attorney and state chairman of the America First Committee which arranged the rally. Eighty officers were on hand to keep order.

Two Great Air Powers

Lindbergh said that his surveys had convinced him that there were "two, and only two great great and natural air powers in the world at this time—the United States in the western hemisphere and Germany in the eastern hemisphere".

"I was convinced that neither was in a position to attack the other successfully across the ocean unless an internal collapse preceded invasion."

As to the possibility of Germany invading America, he said, "if the British navy cannot remain within bombing range of the European coast, then how can any navy or combination of navies, cross the ocean, and without a single base in this hemisphere, land an expeditionary force on American shores?"

Turning to the plea of the interventionists for American participation in the conflict, he asserted that "we might easily find ourselves fighting at one and the same time, the military forces of Germany, Italy, France, Spain and Japan, and other nations".

Maybe Imaginary Man Is Indicted

Chicago, Aug. 30—(AP)—Three persons, one of whom may be an imaginary man, were indicted by a federal grand jury yesterday charged with fraudulent use of the mails in a horse race swindle that cost Lucy M. Sheridan her life savings, $55,000.

Indicted were Albert Watson, formerly of Seattle, Wash., C. M. Jordan, formerly of Minneapolis, Minn., and C. E. Jameson.

Jameson may be the imaginary man, prosecutors said. The name was listed in the indictment because Mrs. Sheridan said she had heard Watson and Jordan refer to Jameson during their dealings.

The alleged swindle occurred June 27, 1939, and the trio has been sought since. The indictment set forth that Mrs. Sheridan was 55 years old, a widow and former resident of Chicago, and that because of the swindle she had become dependent upon relatives at Carroll, Iowa, where she now lives.

The indictment was returned before Judge John P. Barnes.

Nazis Thrust Towards Moscow Stopped, Reds Headquarters Claims

The War Today!

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Telegraph Special Service)

The American-Japanese negotiations which are getting under way in Washington look like a long delayed show-down between the two countries.

Maybe it will be the big show-down which will turn the question of peace or war. The position is extremely serious, though far from hopeless.

There is one fundamental point which we must not overlook in sizing up this situation. Washington has hardened tremendously in recent weeks toward the Japanese operations in the Orient. Uncle Sam is in no mood for tea-table talk, but looks like a man who is prepared to meet any eventualities.

The indications are that the Nipponese finally have reached the point where they want to square themselves with Uncle Sam and unload the disastrous Chinese "incident" which is breaking their backs. It will take much to achieve agreement with Washington at this late date, and what isn't clear is how far Tokyo is prepared to recant, for it certainly must back water.

The impulse back of Japan's rather sensational move to try to make terms obviously must be a powerful one. To my mind it is just what I have mentioned—the hardening of Washington to a point where Japan is afraid the cord of peace will snap.

From information which has come to me from a private source I should say that the Japanese very recently have come to the

Champaign County Wins Farm Sports Festival

Champaign, Ill., Aug. 30—(AP)—Champaign county piled up 2,325 points yesterday to win top scoring honors among the 73 counties represented at the Illinois Farm Sports Festival.

Contestants from Champaign county, in piling up their huge total, also won the championship of district 1. Vermilion county was second with 1,200 and Iroquois third with 590.

DeKalb county was district 2 champion with 2,250 points, followed by Kane, with 1,030, and Peoria, with 905. Whiteside won district 3 with 1,725. Henry had 875, and St. Clair 520.

Livingston county won the state 4-H club softball championship by defeating Kendall county, 4 to 3.

Apparent Low Bidders on State Improvements Announced at Capital

Apparent low bids on highway improvements in Lee and Ogle counties opened at the state highway division at Springfield Friday covered the following projects:

Lee-Ogle counties—Fabrication and delivery of steel for arch and girder type bridge over Rock river on relocation of state route No. 2, north of Dixon near Grand Detour, to Bethlehem Steel Co., of Chicago, $212,278.

Ogle—2.34 miles of 22 foot gravel or crushed stone surfacing on Lowden road from route 64 east of Oregon and extending south to Daysville, to the Thornton Carriage Co., of Thornton, $83,469.

Chicago, Aug. 30—(AP)—John T. Blake, 18, got $2,000 three years ahead of time by joining the marine corps.

His father, Chester, a marine sergeant, specified in his will that John was to inherit the money on his 21st birthday or on the day he joined the corps.

John said he joined because he liked the service and not to get the money, which he said would be banked.

Second Baseman Green Sparkplug of Canton Softball Team Friday Night

Canton, Ill., Aug. 30—(AP)—D. H. Green, a second baseman, was a hero to the softball team of the Canton Kiwanis club today because he smashed a long triple in the fourth inning of yesterday's game with the Lewistown Kiwanis club.

Green's triple drove in two runs and provided the margin by which Canton won the game, 9 to 8.

Lewistown Kiwanians shook their heads ruefully, however, because the same second baseman hadn't helped them much in the first two innings of the game.

Destruction of 100 Red Ships Told by Nazi Command

BULLETIN

Moscow, Aug. 30—(AP)—Tass, official soviet news agency today circulated a dispatch, dated yesterday, from Tallinn, reporting that the Estonian capital still was in soviet hands.

(The Germans, claiming capture of the Gulf of Finland port yesterday, said German forces stormed and took it in the early morning.)

Tallinn, according to the news agency dispatch, was then leading an "intense fighting life" with a people's army backing the Red army and "determined to die rather than surrender the city to the blood-thirsty fascists".

(By The Associated Press)

The German thrust towards Moscow has been stopped with 10,000 Germans slain or wounded in great battles on rain-drenched fields, the Russians asserted today while the Germans reported destruction of up to 100 soviet ships laden with troops fleeing from Tallinn, Estonia.

These rival claims of victories in widely separated areas came as both the axis and the allies were acknowledging shortages in vital sinews of war needed in the expanding general conflict, now nearly two years old.

Rome dispatches said sharp axis needs for oil and other raw materials were major items in the Hitler-Mussolini war talks, along with discussion of means to safeguard the continent against possibilities of British or American invasion.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden declared production of war material by Britain, her allies and the United States "still falls short of our needs," and predicted those needs would grow as the war widened "until it engulfs the world".

He spoke at Coventry as the German high command was claiming a great victory over British-allied Russia: Destruction of at least 60 and up to 100 Russian ships of all kinds in the soviet withdrawal from Tallinn, Estonia. Most of the ships were transports, the Germans said.

Eden mentioned that Britain must help meet the needs of Russia and remarked that the war thus far has shown that "to be short of materials is the most costly method of waging war".

Press Extols Conference
The German press was busy extolling the conference of the two dictators as sealing an axis plan for permanent European peace—based on a decisive German-Italian victory. Japanese dispatches said the conference also

Sympathy Appears in French Circles for Paul Colette

Vichy, Unoccupied France, Aug. 30—(AP)—Sympathy for Paul Colette, youthful DeGaulleist who attempted to assassinate Pierre Laval this week, became evident today even as the wounded politician lay fighting for his life.

In response to sentiment in favor of Colette, the anti-soviet Legion, which Laval was sponsoring when he was shot, decided to back Laval's gesture in asking that Colette be treated with clemency.

Furthermore, latest editions of the newspapers of German-occupied Paris were much milder in attacks on Colette than they had been and some even defended him.

At the same time letters and telegrams of condolences for Laval continued to pour into the Versailles hospital where he remained in grave condition. After a slight rally last night during which his temperature dropped and plans for an operation were held in abeyance, his condition was aggravated this morning. A morning bulletin did not mention the temperature.

Examination of Colette by a magistrate was delayed pending a more thorough investigation of his connections in Marseille and other French towns.

It was disclosed today that a German firing squad—not French as previously reported—had executed eight men yesterday for espionage and activity against German occupation authorities.

Furthermore, the victims, including a French count and a Netherlander, had been sentenced by a German military court and not by the new special French anti-communist court, as first reported.

WHY NOT HAVE A ROCK GARDEN

By Paul T. Haagen

If you would like a rock garden and have the space, there is no reason why you may not satisfy that desire.

To begin with you will want your rockery to look exactly as if it always belonged to the spot, so strive to attain that natural effect. Start with good soil, a pile of rocks of assorted sizes, a few rock plants, and evergreens.

First you must have good drainage. This you can accomplish by digging out the soil 18 inches to two feet and filling in the excavation with stones, gravel or what-have-you, or if the site of your rock garden has a natural slope and good drainage, you may omit the stones and gravel.

Plants Needed

If you have a natural rocky site, so much the better. If so, dig out pockets between the stones and start in by filling the pockets with the soil and then place your plants.

To construct an artificial rock garden, begin with the larger rocks at the base, using the smaller ones as you near the top, allowing a large rock to crop out here and there for contrast. Always set the stones so they will have a natural fall to the back so the water will drain toward the rocks.

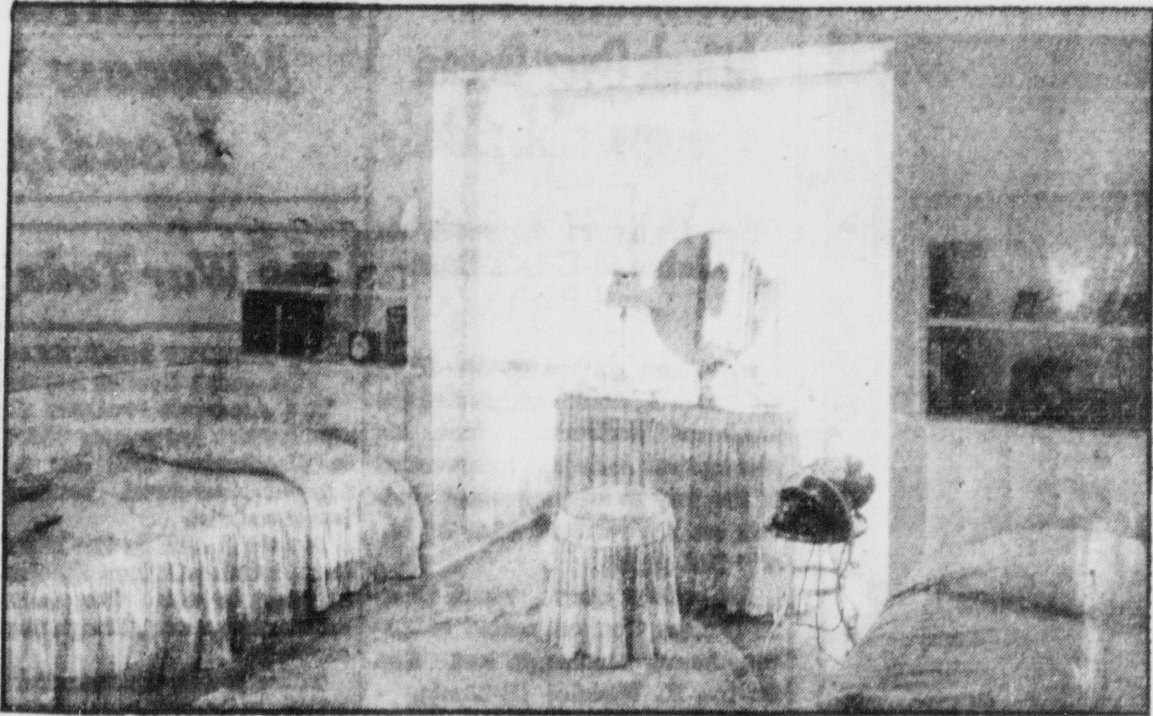

When complete, your garden will look like a series of stone ledges with plants growing out of the crevices. The plants will send their roots deep underground where the soil is moist and cool while the leaves and flowers tumble over the rocks in vivid color changes.

Sandy Soil Best

Most rock plants do not like a clay soil—they thrive best in sandy soil, and if you mix in small gravel and rocks, so much the better. Some rock plants require a lime soil and others an acid soil, so you had best consult the nursery from which you buy your plants as to the exact soil requirements for each plant before planting.

A good way to mix with the soil equal parts of clean sand, small stones or gravel, peat moss or leaf mold and garden loam.

In order to get the atmosphere of naturalness, use a background of trees or shrubs. Place the taller plants to the rear, although this is not a hard and fast rule. Use the evergreens, junipers and mugho pines.

BUILT-IN TABLE CAN BE
A city apartment with a small bedroom which is furnished in modern style may conserve space by having the dressing table and chest of drawers built in. A smart New York apartment is depicted in this fashion.

If you are making improvements to your home a small room might benefit by this suggestion. A shelf across one wall serves as a dressing table. An unframed mirror hangs above. The bench when not in use, may be put out of the way under the shelf. Two chests of drawers are built in. These are of different heights. Book tables are built on either side of the bed, which stands on a platform.

Above is shown a rather unique decorative scheme for separating the dining space in a combination living room and dining room. Here a low bookcase divides the main portion of the living room from the dining space and broad vertical color stripes are painted on the walls which accentuates the division without projections.

WALL PAPER

By PAUL T. HAAGEN

The use of paper for wall covering is much older than the United States. Many of the papers used today are reproductions of the old colonial papers brought to this country from Europe and from China, which were used in the homes of our colonial ancestors.

Wall paper has a great variety of designs and colors which, when utilized in a carefully thought out decorative scheme, will give great individuality, originality and charm to the walls of a room.

Two Methods Good
There are two general ways of treating a wall with wall paper—one as a decoration, the second as a background. If decoration is desired, there are many patterns and colors from which to choose. If a background is required against which pictures and furniture will show to the best advantage, the plainer, simpler papers of one tone or very small pattern should always be chosen.

The paper to be used should be carefully chosen, bearing in mind the purpose for which the room is to be used. Scale—that is the relation of the design to the size of the room—enters largely into the successful results of a wall paper selection and a small room should have a plain paper or one with a small pattern. In the larger room the scale or pattern should be larger.

Color Necessary
Color is essential, and the small room requires softer, quieter tones while in the larger rooms the shades and colors may be bolder and more positive.

Formality or the informal note also should be considered as well as the type of furniture, the color of the rugs and hangings. Try to secure for the entire room a harmonious entity that good color, proper scale and good design will bring about.

SHOWERS Cabinet Style

By Paul T. Haagen

One of the most widely used newer ideas now being incorporated in the small home is the unit or built in shower needed by many families somewhere in the house. It may be placed in the basement, on the first floor or in the bathroom of the second floor.

You may have a unit built shower for the basement in an inexpensive style with galvanized iron walls with a proper floor receptor, leak proof complete with shower heads and curtains at very little cost. More expensive showers may be had with white enameled porcelain walls complete with all necessary receptors and shower heads also.

A shower on the first floor or in the basement is a grand idea for the home where there are small children and where the home gardener or the golfer may dash in for a needed shower.

One of the nice things about these modern showers is that they take up little space and may be installed in an out of the way corner or in a closet without too costly alterations.

The showers are usually square from thirty inches by thirty inches to larger sizes. Corner showers may also be had which save space in cramped places.

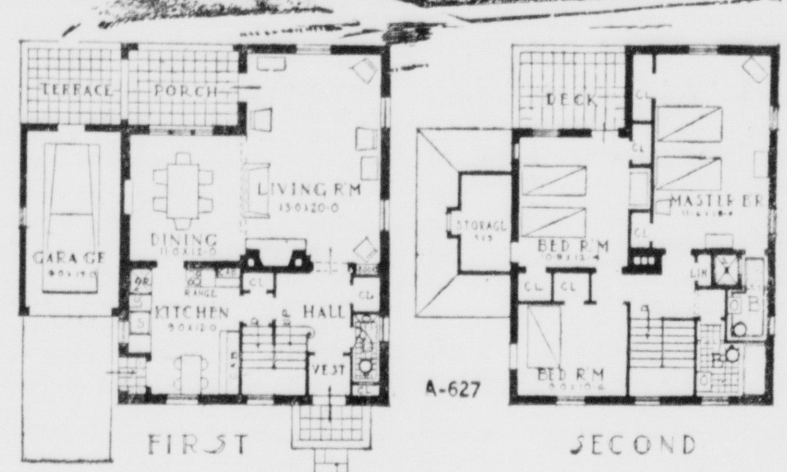

These showers are built with metal walls and floors which are leak proof and are finished in several colors although white is the standard finish.

Some of the showers have a dome light in the ceiling. All are equipped with curtain rod for hanging shower curtains thereon but beautiful glass doors may be had which fit the standard showers and really make wonderful installations.

The shower floors or receptor is built with a non-slip feature, in some cases that is slip-proof when the floor is either wet or dry. This is a decided advantage.

New shower heads, that is the fixture through which the water is delivered are built to save all the water possible. They are easily cleaned and may be directed as the bather desires for there is a swivel at the head allowing the fixture to be turned away in any direction.

Temperature controls may also be installed and mixing valves are available so that one does not stand the chance of scalding water, and the mixture of hot and cold water may be adjusted so as to please the most fastidious bather.

In search of food, wild turkeys have been known to stray 15 miles from their roosts.

COLOR AND EXPOSURE

The experienced decorator knows that certain colors are best suited for the decoration of various rooms. For instance, red, yellow and orange and the warmer colors are used in rooms that have a northern exposure. They add warmth and coziness that sunshine gives to a room and which is lacking in a north room. On the other hand greens and blues are cooler colors and make a south room more restful and cooler.

An earthquake shock will travel completely through the earth in 20 minutes.

TREES GUARD HOME PRIVACY

Frequently home builders find it desirable to plant a row of trees, giving added privacy. The type of trees and their spacing depends upon the effect desired and the amount of money the owner has to spend.

It is inadvisable to plant quick-growing trees, such as willows and poplars, too close to the house or its plumbing lines, as they have been known to cause great damage to pipes and mains because of the spread of their roots. Such trees should be planted at least 30 feet from the house.

German submarines sank 4118 enemy vessels and 1390 neutral vessels during World War I.

Fencing Bought By School Dist.

School District No. 5, better known as the Oak Forrest school, has just purchased new RED TOP fence posts and fencing.

The fencing will be used to enclose the school grounds and while its primary use is of a more serious nature, we've got a hunch that Junior is going to find it a bit more difficult to play "hooky."

They couldn't have made a better choice for kids will be kids and our fencing will stand up under youthful climbers and gate swingers.

New Glarus, Wis. Festival to Open Sunday Afternoon

Tucked among the hills near New Glarus in southwestern Wisconsin, is one of the most unique festivals in the world—the Swiss festival of Wilhelm Tell.

The festival began as a community hobby, and is unspoiled by heavy tourist traffic or commercialism. But this year, the hobby has become greater than the little valley in which it began, and the festival has a message that will be carried to all America—the message of freedom and democracy.

For more than six and a half centuries, Switzerland has been the tiny but indomitable champion of democracy and liberty, and one of the elements which helped to keep the flame burning was the national hero drama, Schiller's "Wilhelm Tell."

Tell was the man who was courageous enough to shoot an apple off his eldest son's head in defiance of Gessler, a tyrannical Austrian governor, at the time of the first Swiss campaign for peace. All this occurred back in thirteenth century. Tell became the national hero, the mold into which all Swiss have tried to pour themselves. He was the symbol for all the fine qualities of patience, wisdom, strength, and an unconquerable spirit.

In the eighteenth century, Schiller, one of the greatest European dramatists, immortalized Tell in a play by that name. It became the national drama, with every Swiss taking part when he was old enough to memorize speaking parts.

So it was natural that when a Swiss colony was founded in 1847 among the hills of New Glarus, so like their homeland, the members brought their beloved play with them. Each year, the present New Glarus generations give the play on the Labor Day week end in a natural open air theater. More than 250 persons take part, in addition to real Swiss cattle, goats, Arabian horses—all essential to the play as originally written. All characters are colorfully and authentically costumed, as are the 22 attractive girl ushers, each of whom is dressed to represent one of the 22 cantons, or districts, of Switzerland.

Because they feel their message of freedom is so important this year, the people of New Glarus will give one performance in English on Labor Day, and the Swiss version will be presented tomorrow. Both performances take place in an outdoor amphitheater, and are scheduled to begin at 1:30 p. m.

Ample parking facilities are available, as well as bus service. New Glarus is located on Wisconsin Highway 69, a famous scenic route among rolling farmlands and wooded hills.

Miss Fitzpatrick, Mr. Middendorf, Wed at Walton

About 50 guests from Dixon, Harmon, Arlington, Sterling, Chicago, Peoria, and Ft. Madison witnessed an 8 o'clock nuptial mass, solemnized this morning at St. Mary's church in Walton for Miss Mary B. Fitzpatrick, elder daughter of the William Fitzpatricks of Amboy, and Mark N. Middendorf, elder son of Mrs. Lena Middendorf of Ft. Madison, Iowa. The Rev. Father Daily heard the vows.

Gladioli in pastel colors decorated the altar for the wedding service. Mrs. Theodore Fitzpatrick of Harmon, the bride's aunt, sang an Ave Maria. Mrs. Ross Doran of Ohio, Ill., who was matron of honor for her sister, and Dale Doran sang in the choir.

William O'Malley of Dixon was best man for Mr. Middendorf. The bride wore a fingertip veil with her lace-trimmed wedding gown of white satin, and she carried a prayer book with white gladioli and sweet pea florets knotted in the ribbon cascade. Her gold and mother-of-pearl locket was a gift from her bridegroom.

Mrs. Doran was dressed in pink silk jersey, with a matching shoulder veil, and a coronet of gladioli. Her colonial bouquet contained mixed flowers.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in Amboy, following the ceremony. The couple will reside at 123 Machin street, Peoria.

Mrs. Middendorf, who was graduated from Amboy Township high school and the St. Francis hospital training school for nurses in Peoria, has been employed in Peoria. The bridegroom, a graduate of Catholic Central high school in Ft. Madison, is with the Caterpillar Tractor company in East Peoria.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Koehler entertained at dinner last evening for today's bridal pair.

DINNER GUESTS
Mrs. Annie Cramer entertained at dinner last evening, her guests including Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Swisher of Lancaster, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Levan and family, the Oscar Cramers, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Cramer and family.

The Pennsylvanians and the Mathias Levans spent Thursday at the Bureau County Fair in Princeton.

PRE-NUP TIAL PARTY
Miss Hazel Latta of Harmon, who will become the bride of Everett Epps on Sept. 6, was complimented at a surprise shower Thursday evening given by Mrs. John Gruetzmacher and daughter, Miss Dorothy.

TO MICHIGAN
Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Crawford of Franklin Grove will be leaving Tuesday for a late-summer vacation at Escanaba, Mich. They expect to remain in the north until Sept. 10.

LUNCHEON HOSTESS
Mrs. L. M. Griffin of Polo is entertaining at luncheon today at Peter Piper's. Her party numbers 30.

In 1939, Ohio ranked third in fur production in the United States, producing almost three times as much fur as Alaska.

81st YEAR

Members of the Pine Rock Woman's club are planning an afternoon and evening reception for Wednesday, honoring Mrs. Charles Dailey of Oregon, who will be observing her eighty-first birthday anniversary. Guests will be received at Mrs. Dailey's home, from 2 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

Mrs. Dailey is a charter member of the club and serves as flag custodian. In the past two years, she has been absent for only one meeting.

MISS FELLOWS, MR. LEDIG GIVE SKITS AT CAMP

Miss Dorothy Fellows of Belvidere, who is well known among summer theater-goers of the Rock river valley for her skillful portrayals with the original Grand Detour Players' troupe, is now located at the Colonial Inn. Penney Farms, Ga., just ten miles from Camp Blanding, where she is to appear in a series of skits and plays with Howard Ledig, another former member of the Grand Detour troupe.

The pair's first show, "Journey to Camden" and an M. Van Inwagen skit, was presented yesterday and Thursday. Next week's performance will be the second act of trial scene of Mary in "The Trial of Mary Dugan," their third show will be the second act from "Private Lives," and after that, they plan to present the third act of "Love From a Stranger."

FOURTH YEAR
Mrs. Oliver V. Melvin of Sterling was entertaining with an afternoon party on Tuesday for the pleasure of her little son, Ross Gordon, who was celebrating his fourth birthday anniversary. Ten young party-goers were invited to the home of Ross Gordon's great-grandmother, Mrs. Edward E. Gonnerman, for the event.

Red, white and blue appointments were festive on the table, and favors were gumdrop soldiers with hats in those colors. Red candles decorated the birthday cake.

Guests included Norman and Neil Grimes, Ellen and Nancy Rorer, Boyd Melvin, Sharon and Larry Tyler, Nancy Schrader, Peter Gerald, Mary Dell Poulos, their mothers, and Mrs. Gunnar Nilsson.

MISS MILLER IS HONORED WITH SHOWER

Miss Dorothy Walters was a shower hostess on Thursday evening, entertaining for Miss Dorothy Miller, whose marriage to Warren C. Huff is to be solemnized a week from today. Games of buncie occupied the evening hours, with Mrs. Harold Stewart winning honors.

A large wedding cake, which the bride-to-be was asked to cut, was served with refreshments at the close of the games.

Good Start for 'Best-Dressed' Title

Y best-dressed woman of tomorrow," And there's no doubt about it; a child thus dressed will have a lifelong feeling for fine clothes. The hand-embroidered yoke is edged with lace matching the skirt border and the fragile hand in the pert puff sleeves.

Summer Theater Players to Give Monday Matinee

For the accommodation of their summer theater patrons, the Grand Detour Players and their director, Richard Vernon, are announcing a special holiday matinee for Monday afternoon. Announcement of the Labor Day performance is made in response to numerous requests from patrons who have been unable to attend this week's delightful comedy offering, "She Couldn't Marry Three."

This production, regarded by many as the best show presented at Illini hall, is the charming and amusing story of three young men and the woman in their lives. The time of the play is 1917, and those who recall those unforgettable days will experience a nostalgic thrill as they witness the antics of the three bachelor buddies.

John Cosgrove heads the cast in the lovable role of Grumple, a typical vaudeville actor. His two mischief-making comrades are Don Randall as Don and Edward Rees, as Sid. Others in the cast are Wallace Dace, designer of the set, Miss Edith Perry, Miss Joan Norlander, and Miss Toni Lumley.

The comedy will be staged this evening and tomorrow night, in addition to the Sunday and Monday matinees at 2:30 o'clock.

Director Vernon announces that Miss E. Melba Johnson will return to the summer theater stage next week for her second and final appearance of the season, in a portrayal of the light-hearted Bridget Drake in Rachael Crothers' New York success, "When Ladies Meet."

"HUT-SA"
On the north bank of the Rock river, some distance east of Grand Detour, there's a summer cottage in the process of construction that is to be known as "Hut-Sa on the Rillerah," when the builders are all through with their hammering and sawing. Owner of the property is Dr. S. A. Hutt of Chicago, whose initials and name are reminders of a current hit tune.

O'Brien-Rebuck Bridal Is Read at Church Altar

Miss Belma Louise Rebuck, only daughter of the Reynold Rebucks of 412 Highland, became the bride of Daniel O'Brien of Moline, son of Mrs. James O'Brien, Sr. of Woosung, in a nuptial high mass solemnized at 7:30 a. m. today at St. Patrick's Catholic church. The Rev. Father Frank Dickman, uncle of the bridegroom, came from Wapella to celebrate the mass.

Hydrangeas decorated the altar for this morning's ceremony.

Miss Francella Devine was Miss Rebuck's only attendant, and John O'Brien of Woosung was best man for his brother. Ushers were another brother of the bridegroom, Francis O'Brien, and Marvin Rebuck, the bride's brother.

The bride's gown of white faille taffeta was designed on princess lines, with a quilted bolero. A nosegay of white chrysanthemums trimmed her fingertip veil of net, and she carried white gladioli and asters in an arm bouquet. A gold cross was her bridegroom's gift.

Miss Devine was wearing periwinkle blue taffeta with a blush-er veil to match, and carried pink and white asters. Her pearl necklace was a gift from the bride.

Both Mrs. Rebuck and Mrs. O'Brien were attired in blue.

A wedding breakfast for about 40 guests was served at the home of the bride's parents. Afterward, Mr. O'Brien and his bride will be motoring toward northern Michigan on a brief wedding trip. When they return, they will be at home in Baron's apartments in Moline.

Mrs. O'Brien was graduated from Dixon high school. The bridegroom, who formerly attended school in Ogle county, is employed at the John Deere Wagon company in Moline.

About 75 guests were present for this morning's wedding from Dixon, Sterling, Rock Falls, Chicago, Moline, and Peoria, Ill.; and Charlotte and Le Claire, Iowa.

INDIANA GUESTS
The Rev. and Mrs. Clarence Stauffer and daughter, Jeanne Alice, of Mishawaka, Ind. are expected to arrive in Dixon tomorrow evening to spend the Labor Day holiday with Mr. Stauffer's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Stauffer, and other relatives.

For week ends in town the college girl chooses a black wool bustle suit. It's shown with natural stone marten and a black velvet bonnet trimmed with pink ostrich plumes.

A Thought For Today

But the hour cometh, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth: for the Father seeketh such to worship him.—John 4:23.

He that hath no cross deserves no crown.—Quarles.

Your Community, Your School,
Your P.-T. A.

It is a new day, a new school!
Today more than ever before the coordinating influence of the Parent-Teacher association is needed in every community and is a necessity in the accomplishment of complete education. Education goes on every minute of the day, and not just during school hours. The teacher has the child only one-fifth or one-sixth of that time. What boy or girl does the remaining four-fifths or five-sixths of his time is quite important from an educational point of view. Education is now recognized to be more than drilling in the fundamentals of the three R's. Citizenship, character, health, vocational guidance, and leisure time activities are a definite part of the picture.

A Parent-Teacher association is the ideal group to work out a complete community-wide program of education. Within the membership of a Parent-Teacher association should always be found representatives of all the community groups. A year's program is formulated for the cooperation of all the groups of the community interested in the complete education and welfare of boys and girls.

The importance of a community-wide program of education is being stressed by leading educators. Attention is called to the new State Rating Sheet for Elementary Schools, page 13 point VII, "Community Relationships." An excerpt reads, "If possible there should be a regularly organized Parent-Teacher association—so as to bring about a better understanding and appreciation of the problems and work of the school. (Pie suppers, Christmas entertainments, Halloween parties, etc., can scarcely be classed as public relations programs.)"

Each summer parent-teacher work is now being presented in every teacher's college in the state, and this year a full credit course was presented in one of them for the first time. An entire evening's program at the great Mid-West Conference at the University of Illinois gave a summary of the work of the Illinois Congress and National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The parent-teacher movement should have the support of every adult in the community—not of just parents and teachers. If you are a friend of children and youth see the local membership committee in your community.

"You Men of the New Army—"

We believe in American youth. We believe in the portion of that youth now serving in the New Army. From what we know of them, from what we have seen and heard of them, we believe no finer body of men ever stepped forward to defend their country. We believe they will not be found wanting when the test comes, whether that test is the test of battle or the test of a long hours of training without the tensions and excitements that drive men through an actual campaign in war. Because we are so sure that American youth is sound and true, we believe in the future of the United States of America.

There have been mutterings and mummings of late, both in print and out of it, which suggest that there is a certain amount of discontent among the men of the New Army. It would be strange if there were not. It is not easy to give up a year, and then another 18 months of one's life to military preparedness. It is even harder in a country not actually at war than when war is actually under way, for the excitement, the all-embracing high tension, are absent. It's all grind and no glamor.

Nevertheless it is being done. Secretary of War Stimson speaks straight from the shoulder when he tells "you men of the New Army": "... out of your devotion there is being created the most effective fighting force which this country has ever known in time of peace."

Such discontent as exists (and there is always some, in any army) comes, we believe, from lack of more thorough understanding of just what the United States is up against. Secretary Stimson, reviewing the way in which Germany, Japan, and Italy have, in seven years, attacked and overrun 16 countries, shows clearly the prospects for actual attack on this country, and the steps taken in building defense outposts, to keep war away from America. He shows clearly that the Germans alone have a trained army of seven million, all fanatics, and all "professionals and veterans." In any clash, even in the outposts, against such a force, "it would be a crime against you yourselves to send you half-trained..."

"We wish an army which in equipment, training, and in spirit... will be able to meet and conquer any attack which may be attempted against any part of our homeland."

The mere size of the present American Army, a million and a half men, is a guarantee that no "wild adventures in foreign wars are contemplated." Such an army, if trained to something approaching German finish, might be sufficient to handle a situation involving the invasion of one of the outposts. It certainly does not approach the huge five or six million men necessary to any "all-out" invasion of Europe. It cannot, by its mere size, be anything but a defensive army.

We have confidence in it and in the men who make it up. They will go through with what the country has decided it needs for its safety.

You can toss into the discard the old query, "Why does a chicken cross the road?" Under modern traffic conditions it never gets to the other side.

They can't fool us—it's the early chestnut that really gets the worm.

Hush, little business, don't you cry, you'll get better—buy and buy!

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, Aug. 30 — Mr. Roosevelt was angry about the lies he thought columnists had told concerning the British using lend-lease money for food, champagne and what-not. He happened to be inaccurate again in saying a columnist had written that particular story about which he was asked in his press conference. It was solely the product of a non-columnar reporter for an anti-administration midwestern journal.

But now along comes the current issue of "The London Economist", than whom even Buckingham palace is not more British. This is a trade journal, attempting to promote nothing but the truth and economics from the British government and war standpoint. In its issue of July 26 it minimizes talk that the British are reselling our vitamin powders, and then it voluntarily goes on to ask why the British want 100 more tankers when it would seem — licks to the contrary notwithstanding — they already have enough.

About the vitamin powders it says, the point has been reported and complained of, but it must be untrue, or true to such a small extent as to be inconsequential. Then it adds:

"Consternation has also been caused in American oil circles by the request that an additional 100 American oil tankers should be placed at the disposal of Britain. Fifty have already been transferred... (and the situation) has seriously disturbed the highly industrialized eastern states... Not unnaturally, therefore, some of the interests affected have been asking why Britain needs these tankers."

"The accession of Norway and Holland to the allied cause raised the tanker tonnage at Britain's disposal from approximately 3,000,000 to 6,000,000 gross tons—a tonnage which, it is argued, should be sufficient for all Britain's requirements, even if ample allowance is made for sinkings and delays due to the convoy system."

"The request for more tankers must, therefore, be expected to arouse vigorous protests across the Atlantic. If, as has been suggested, the vessels are to be used to carry oil from the ports of the Dutch West Indies or the Gulf of Mexico as far east as Iceland, the question immediately arises why British and Norwegian bottoms cannot be used for the purpose."

"The handing over of another 100 tankers would certainly cause the most acute crisis on the western seaboard; for it would mean that the tonnage engaged in supplying these states had been reduced by 60 per cent since the beginning of the war."

That is a manner of laying facts out on the table, which will eventually, on both sides of the Atlantic, produce firm common ground for action through the political fog that Ickes has made out of the oil tanker policy.

As for British cribbing on lend-lease, the story common in official administration quarters is that the president's lender-lease Harry Hopkins has been required to adopt a strict attitude on occasions. He allowed them to lend-lease typewriters, for instance, but not adding machines to be sent to London, on the theory that the typewriters were going to the Near East war zone, while the adding machines were for government work at home.

It may turn out that Hopkins was too harsh in this one instance. What the British need to keep better account than last time are adding machines, and plenty of them.

Impressin' has rooted here that the Iranians hated war worse than they hated the invading British-Reds or the nesting nazis there. No general mobilization order for their army was announced when the British-Russian pincers came in upon them. All they did was to call in soldiers on leave, according to their official announcements.

There was really little they could do beyond putting up such a show of resistance that the nazis would not be angry in case the nazis happen to win the war.

Military men here gave them only two weeks possibility of resistance—if they tried.

Immediate result of the British-Red success will be to bolster Russian morale, steal a march on the Germans who will one day be coming down through Turkey in that direction.

Truth is neither Roosevelt nor Churchill will be able to put very much material into Russia by that route or any other before spring. But it will make everyone feel good to hold that railroad from

LEANDER STEVENSON
(Telephone Special Service)

Polo, Aug. 30—Leander Stevenson passed away last evening at his home on North Congress street, his death terminating an illness of several months duration. He was born in Jefferson township, Green county, Wis., April 10, 1863, where he spent his young manhood. He conducted a shoe business in Monroe for several years before coming to Polo, where he continued the business for a period of 25 years.

In 1882 he was united in marriage to Miss Rachael Randall of Monroe and to this union two children were born, Mrs. Ethel Chambers of Juda, Wis., and a son Glen who preceded him in death in 1915. His wife passed away in 1893. In 1894 he married Miss Ada Reidler who preceded him in death. One son Jay was born to this union, who passed away in 1912. In 1922 he was married to Miss Alice Doon who survives him with one daughter, Mrs. Chambers and a sister, Mrs. Jane Randall, both of Juda, Wis., six grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Mr. Stevenson had been a life long member of the Lutheran church in which he was very active in the various organizations. For the past 65 years he had taught a Sunday school class in the church. Funeral services will be conducted from his home Monday afternoon at 1:30 and at 2 o'clock from the Lutheran church, the pastor, Rev. Martin Kaebler officiating. Interment will be in Fairmount cemetery.

IMMANUEL LUTHERAN

Miss Edna Gerdes delegate from Wartburg Luther League of Immanuel Lutheran church, accompanied by Hulda Schafer returned Wednesday after attending the sixth International convention of the Luther Leagues of the American Lutheran church. The convention opened Tuesday August 19 at 2:30, with over a thousand Luther Leaguers and pastors, at the Colorado State College of Education, Greeley Colorado. Tuesday's program was climaxed with a Buffalo barbecue and mixer at Jackson Field Greeley, Colo.

Wednesday August 20th business session and in inspirational hours were followed by a fellowship banquet, which was held in Gunter hall on the campus.

Thursday, August 21st a caravan of 189 cars left the campus on an all day mountain tour of Rocky Mountain National Park. This was followed by a steak fry and sunset service in Glacier Basin.

Friday August 22nd panel and group discussions were climaxed by the all district stunt night in the Garden Theatre, with the Texas district taking the prize.

Saturday, August 23rd the address and open forum was followed by the broadcast over radio station K.F.K.A. In the evening the Choral Union Concert under the direction of Dr. Ellis E. Snyder, Columbus, Ohio was presented. The convention closed on Sunday August 24th. With a convention service and celebration of Holy Communion.

The past convention tour began Sunday when we left Greeley, Colorado for Denver. In Denver our sight seeing busses carried us West on Calfax ave. to Golden and up Mount Lookout to Colonel Cody's grave and museum.

Following the trail to Idaho Springs to spend a night in the heart of the mountains. Leaving Idaho Springs we went to Echo and Summit Lakes on Mount Evans, and thence to Evergreen for dinner. Traveling on we passed through Bear Creek Canyon to the Red Rocks natural amphitheatre.

The sight seeing tour of Denver was followed with dinner. Traveling by train to spend the night in Colorado Springs. Leaving at 8:00 a.m. for the Seven Falls, Van Briggie Pottery Garden of the Gods, Cave of the Winds and arrived at Maniton for lunch.

After visiting the novelty shops the past conventioners left for home.

Wise Old Yankee Made Fourth of July Perfect

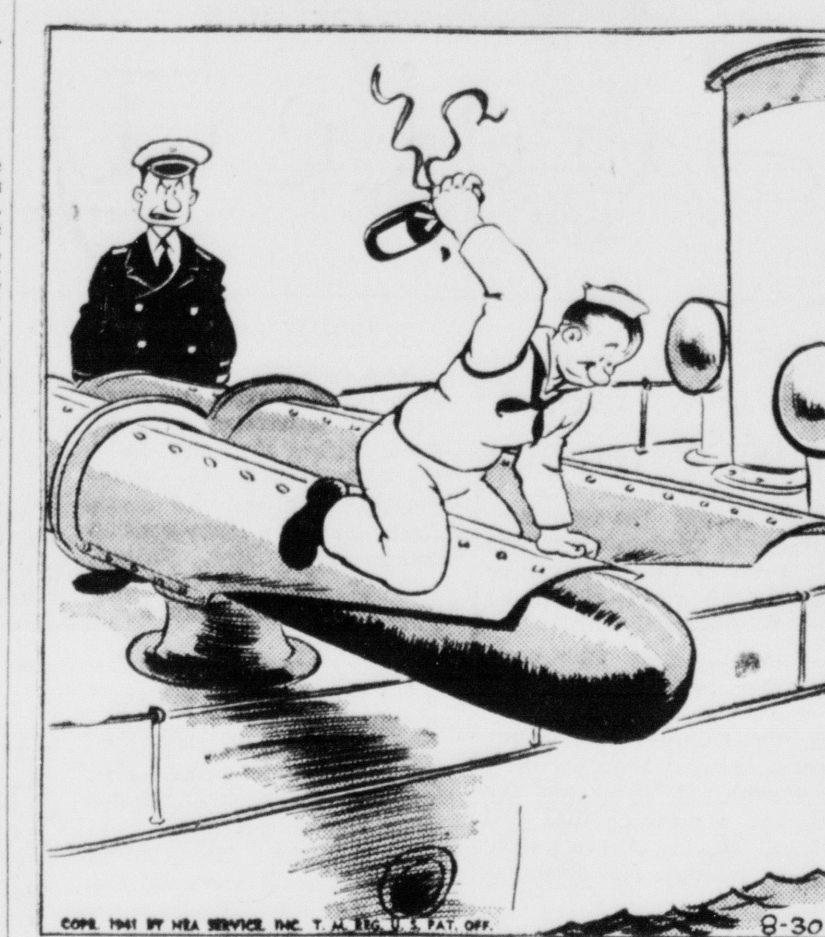

A community dinner was the highlight of a Fourth of July celebration in 1857 by a group of Illinois settlers who had come west from New England.

There were 110 in this group that settled in Ford county, the Illinois Writers' Project, W. P. A. reports. Having built their houses, cleared and ploughed the land and planted crops, they prepared to celebrate Independence Day. On that day every family took a food-laden basket to School Section Grove, where the contents were spread out for a community dinner.

There was an abundance of roast wild turkeys, chickens, cakes and pies, but when a wise Yankee appeared with a huge pot of baked beans he was almost mobbed. Forsaking the western delicacies, those "down east Yankees" ate every bean in a hurry. In hearts and appetites they were "back home."

As a result of the device invented by Charles H. Roberts, of Burbank, Calif., safer and more economical landing of airplanes is foreseen. His invention sets airplane wheels spinning at whatever speed will gear them to the speed of the plane.

NEIGHBOR BOY

They buried him one lonely day
A proud spirit, mild fisted man
Can't be the boy, brown eyes full
Of fun.
Was a man laid low by an assassin's gun?
Some say he had it coming,
Those who criticize,
But they never saw him comfort
The tiny boy who cried,
Do they know how he risked his Life
That a little child might live?
And gave his blood to another
Just because it was his to give?
He was quick to avenge an insult
Or to fight for some one he loved
Kind and courteous to a poor old Lady
There is one who sees those things
From above,
So when the last great scales are balanced
Somewhere in another land
I think we'll find after all
He was pretty much a man.

THE MISER

There is an old man down our way
And he's a miser so folks say.
He has "no trespassin'" signs all over his place
And all the kids, we all pass
in haste,
He'll never even stop to speak a friendly word
And always hurries by as if he hadn't heard
Twice the other night just about dark
Mom sent me to the store
As I hurried by the miser's house
He opened up the door
Now was I scared? I should say
But the miser smiled and said
"Hey!"
Now I stood still right in my tracks
And wondered if the stories I'd heard about him were facts.
He said, "Come in", so I went in
And stood close to the chair as if
to hide
He took me by the hand and led me to the stairs
And he went to a room up there,
And to my surprise, playin' on the floor
Were a dozen little puppies, maybe more.
I picked up one, a funny little feller
His nose and ears were black
The rest of him was yellow.
The miser smiled and stroked his
And then he said, "You can have him".
Now, no matter what folks say,
The miser's the man who gives puppies away.
"Meh."

Three Boys Flee From Model Pa. Correctional School Late Last Eve

White Hill, Pa., Aug. 30.—(AP)—State police opened a widespread search today for three youthful prisoners who fled over the lofty barbed wire fence of the new Pennsylvania Industrial School for Boys here in the institution's second break in little more than a month.

Major Henry C. Hill, superintendent of the model correctional school which opened last spring, said the three were working in the laundry until late last night and seized an opportunity to dash to freedom.

The officer in charge of loading laundry trucks, laden with clean garb for the boys after a Saturday bath, turned away from the trio to instruct some other workers, Major Hill said.

Eight million galley slaves would be required to propel the liner Queen Mary.

START FOOTBALL TRAINING

Clarence Kelly and Donald Vaile, members of last year's high school football team who were graduated in June, will join the mole skins at St. Ambrose college at Davenport, Ia. this week end. Commissioner Joe E. Vaile took the two boys to Davenport yesterday where they enrolled in the school, reported to the athletic department where they were issued their football equipment and will start training at once.

MICHIGAN CAMPER

Bill Thompson is writing vacation post cards from his camp base at Crystal Falls, Mich. where he describes the country as good for hunting.

EVEN UP

Abe Martin and Paul Reynolds are even up at the end of the first nine holes played in their Class B match in the current Plum Hollow tournament. Abe has a 41 and Paul a 40. The winner will play Harold Rorer for the championship. In the Class A events Ed Worley meets En Rorer tomorrow morning. In Class C today's matches include Ernie Swan vs. Russell Brown and O. K. Welty vs. Fred Reiter, the winner of the last match will play Art Cromm. All Class C players are planning matches for tomorrow which will bring the division down to the semi-finals. The three flights of the tournament are expected to windup next Sunday.

"UP NORTH"

Athletic Director A. C. Bowers went off for a little pre-school vacation yesterday when he and Bob Hill left for a fishing trip "up north." The pair decided to go on the spur of the moment and two hours later were on their way. They'll be back Monday.

OVER STERLING-WAY

Co-Captains Woodyatt and Nelson are the only regulars reporting back to Coach Ted Scheid at Sterling this year, but the mentor is said to have some fine looking reserves. There is said to be plenty of beef in the line and the backs are described as fast and shifty.

MORNING GAME FOR KNACKS

STAG PICNIC

The Polo softball league which closed its record books last night after a season of "work" will now have the dessert course in the form of a picnic next Thursday night at the White Pines state park starting at 7:45. All players, umpires, bat boys, radio announcers, managers and sponsors are urged to attend the final blow-out.

Sub-Par Scores Are Common in Hershey Tourney

By TOM REEDY

Hershey, Pa., Aug. 30—(AP)— Though holding a two-stroke lead, Ben Hogan, golfs best money-winner, had to contend today with 16 fellow professionals who have broken par for 36 holes for the $5,000 Hershey Open championship. Hogan fired a brilliant 67 yesterday to go with a first-round 69 for 136, two shots in front of Lloyd Mangrum of Monterey Park, Calif. With 36 holes to go, Ben was almost certain to finish in the money for the 54th consecutive tournament. The 7,000-yard par-73 Hershey layout was almost perfect for golf scoring. As a result, scores of 157 or better were required to qualify the low 62 professionals and nine amateurs for today's and tomorrow's 18 holes.

Sub-par is common
Sub-par rounds were a dime a dozen. Hogan's 67 was good but not the best. Jack Grout, formerly assistant professional here, had a field day with his second shots on the long holes to rack up a 66 and though he had a 11 in his first round, he still was in a contending position for some sort of a cash prize. Best amateur in the field was Dick Chapman, 1940 U. S. amateur champion, at 149. Dick took a 74 yesterday with his earlier 75 and blew only at the 18th hole. There he hit a trap from the tee, topped an explosion shot and wound up with a six on a three-par hole. While Hogan and Mangrum held the early advantage, there were a half-dozen top-notch professionals still in position to be more-than-ordinary contenders.

ARISTOCRATIC PUP

New York—The American Kennel Club says the first spaniel came to this country on the Mayflower in 1620. Whether it was a cocker spaniel, most popular breed in the country today, isn't known, but Freeman Lloyd says a painting by John P. Audubon in 1800 shows a liver-colored spaniel definitely of the cocker type. An automobile which goes 18 miles on a gallon at 30 miles an hour will go about 12 at 60. Oil consumption is seven times greater at 55 miles an hour than at 30. Fires in continuous runs generate such heat that in some cases the temperature runs as high as 12 degrees below the boiling point. Heat and oxidation are unrelenting enemies of rubber.

Sixty-eight per cent of the world's automobiles are in use in the United States.

Three, three, three—one 3 for the Three Deuces, another for the three games they won in the city series to snag the championship and the last three as a symbol of the .333 percentages which they handed to their "three" opponents. Guess the three have it. Last night saw the windup of the city series at the Airport diamond and in the nightcap game the Curran club handed the United Cigars an 8 to 2 defeat to win the title. After a so-so start at the beginning of the season the Three Deuces picked up speed and stamina about mid-season and looked in top form when they finished third in the league season. Showing that their new power was no bluff, they came through the city series undefeated.

In the opening game last night the Borden team won its first series game by defeating Reynolds and knotting the other teams in a tied for "second" place. Bordens won 5 to 3 as Pitcher Johnnie Jensen allowed the wirmen only four hits in the seven innings. Flash Fordham also put up stiff resistance with a 5-hit mound performance.

Eight errors by the wirmen cinched the game for the milkmen who scored one run in the first inning, another in the third and three in the seventh.

In the nightcap victory for the Three Deuces, Sharpe was the winning hurler and he allowed the United Cigar players only four hits. He walked two and fanned nine. Deets, the losing pitcher, gave 11 hits, walked nine and fanned three.

DON McNEILL TO OPEN NATIONAL SINGLES MEET

New York, Aug. 30—(AP)— Donald McNeill, the lithe lad from Oklahoma City, gets the privilege of sending the first ball spinning across the turf in Forest Hills stadium today to open the 1941 National Singles tennis championship. That's in recognition of his position as defending champion. Don meets George Pryor of Pittsburgh in the first match. Due to his poor tournament record since he won the title last September, McNeill was seeded third in a field of 64 this year behind Bobby Riggs and Frank Kovacs. Riggs and Kovacs also are listed to appear on the Stadium courts today, the former facing Robin Hippensiel of San Bernardino. Wayne Sabn of Reno, Nev., ranked sixth, winds up the program against young Earl Cochell of Los Angeles, who performed sensationally in some of this year's preliminary events.

Medwick's Great Comeback Stamps Him As Supreme

BY GAYLE TALBOT

Associated Press Sports Writer
Sufficient having been written for the time being about Howard Pollet, the Cardinals' sensational new pitcher, and it being a matter of common consent that Howard is tagged for baseball greatness, this writer hastens to put in a few words for Joe Medwick, an elderly sort of outfielder for the Brooklynns.

Joe cost the Dodgers something more than $100,000 last season, was bearded soon thereafter, and at the end of the campaign was being referred to as "Larry MacPhail's folly." His great comeback this season stamps Joe as one of the game's supreme gamesters.

He's The "Solid Man"

He is the "solid man" of the Dodgers these days. He is crowding the league leaders with a batting average of .316, has hit 17 homers, and has slugged 74 runs across the plate, including the two that proved the eventual undoing of the Giants yesterday.

Some observers think Joe is fielding better than in his palmer days with the Cards. At least, he gives the impression he is hustling harder. In yesterday's encounter, with the Dodgers clinging worriedly to a 5-4 lead in the ninth, Dick Bartell of the Giants whammed one far into left field that looked like the business, but Medwick made a running, leaping stab of the Pellet and wrapped up victory for Pitcher Whit Wyatt.

It was an important win for the Dodgers, as it fattened their lead over the idle cards to a game and a half. Manager Leo Durocher's tired Athletics realize that they need to take full advantage of the week eastern opposition before starting on their final do-or-die tour of the west.

Wyatt's 18th Victory
They won yesterday's game (the only one played in the National League) by jumping on Hal Schumacher for six hits and five runs in the fifth inning. Wyatt wasn't at his best, yielding 10 hits, but with a lead like that he was a cinch to get his 18th victory.

The American League also was busy changing partners, and in the only contest played the St. Louis Browns smote the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 2, as Elden Auker recorded his 13th triumph. Johnny Bernardino's double with the bases loaded in the third put the Browns in front 5-0, and from there on it was a breeze for Auker.

The loss dropped the second-place Sox to 17½ games behind the Yankees and probably caused President Ed Barrow of the Yanks to breathe easier about his daring decision to start printing World Series tickets.

SCHEDULE FOR SHAUGHNESSY PLAYOFF COULD BE MADE NOW

(By The Associated Press)
Barring complete reversals of form by all concerned, the schedule for the Shaughnessy playoffs in the Three-I League could be drawn up on the basis of today's standings.

Evansville is firmly entrenched in first place with an eight-and-a-half game lead. Cedar Rapids has only a two-and-a-half game margin over third place Decatur, but the Raiders are favored by the schedule and will finish the season at home. Fourth place Springfield has a margin of seven and a half games over Waterloo, the leader of the second division.

Split Twin Bill
Cedar Rapids and Evansville split a doubleheader last night. Evansville won the opener, 2 to 1, pushing across the winning marker in the eighth inning of the scheduled seven-inning game. The Raiders came back to win the seven inning nightcap, 1 to 0, behind Ray Post's two-hit pitching.

Waterloo took two games from the first, 5 to 4, and 2 to 1. The first game was carried to eight innings. Clinton registered a 10 to 5 win over Springfield and Decatur downed Madison, 5 to 0.

DECISIVE GAME TONIGHT IN JUNIOR LEGION BASEBALL

Spartanburg, S. C., Aug. 30—(AP)—The decisive game will be played tonight in the three game series between San Diego, Calif., and Flint, Mich., to enter the American Legion Junior baseball finals. San Diego squared the series last night with a 9-4 triumph. Flint won the first game of the series 2-1. Winner of the series here will play Berkyn, Ill., in the national finals next week.

Legrand's home run with a mate aboard in the sixth was a high spot of San Diego's victory. Bob Usher led San Diego's offense with three singles in five times up.

Riggs and Kovacs also are listed to appear on the Stadium courts today, the former facing Robin Hippensiel of San Bernardino. Wayne Sabn of Reno, Nev., ranked sixth, winds up the program against young Earl Cochell of Los Angeles, who performed sensationally in some of this year's preliminary events.

(Pinch Hitting For Eddie Brietz)
New York, Aug. 30—(AP)—(The Special News Service)—Another record for the Yanks: They'll start accepting applications for World Series tickets next Tuesday two weeks earlier than they've ever done it before. You can bet anything you want that the Dodgers will play their series games, if any, at Ebbetts Field, but it probably makes Larry MacPhail very sad to know that the park's capacity is just 6,000 more than the 28,000 seats the Yanks will sell the day of each game.

The boys and girls out at Forest Hills have been hollering because only five grass courts have been available for practice and they can't get ready for the Nationals on any other kind. But that's nothing compared with some of the bellows put up by Jersey city baseball fans. One writer described the club (barring pitchers) as the lethargic misfits Horace Stoneham, Bill Terry & Co. asked local fans to support. . . . Vinnie Richards, who has been playing amateur and pro tennis for 20 years, bows out after his exhibition Monday at the New York A.C. He's going to take a final crack at Bill Tilden and then devote his time to business.

Ward and Abbott Meet for Crown of Amateur Golf

By EARL HILLIGAN

Omaha, Aug. 30—(AP)—A steel-nerved star who's been in before and an unemployed former movie extra—both up from the ranks of public links competition—knocked on the door of amateur golf's hall of fame today.

Seeking the 45th annual amateur championship in a 36-hole battle over the rugged field club layout, are Marvin (Bud) Ward of Spokane, Wash., winner in 1939, and Slim Pat Abbott of Los Angeles, whose best previous bid for the crown was his loss to Willie Turnesa in the 1938 finals.

Their duel shaped up as a perfect climax to a week of sensational golf. For Ward, who yesterday moved ahead with a rousing 9 and 8 triumph over Bob Riegel of Houston, Tex., was the long-hitting "slugger" type of competitor as contrasted to the shorter but straighter shooting little California Irishman, who moved into this finals with a one up victory over Ted Bishop of Boston.

Ward, a public links tourney performer back in 1933 and in recent years the acknowledged top Simon-Pure of the country, never gave Riegel a chance. He won the first four holes with par golf and from that point on it was just a matter of time.

The match ended as Ward took the 27th and 28th with pars to go nine up.

Plays Deliberate Game

Abbott, playing a deliberate game and allowing no tight spots to ruffle his swing, held a two-hole edge over Bishop through 32 holes. He three-putted the 33rd, however, and the easterner appeared to have a chance. But Abbott refused to crack, matching his opponent shot for shot to the 36th, where a half gave him his triumph.

Both finalists are 28 years old and both have excellent records behind them.

Ward, in his first National Amateur in 1937, went to the semi-finals and in last year's amateur met Abbott for the first and only time, scoring a 3 and 2 third round victory. Abbott, who has done some radio acting and hopes for a victory "which may give me a break in radio or pictures," won the public links title in 1936 and has been playing for 12 years. For 140 holes he's played this week he has been 21 over the field club par, with Ward but 11 shots over regulation figures for 124 holes.

Ward's Victories

Ward, who has not been down to any of his five victims, marched to this second title shot with the following victories: Alex Welsh, Rockford, Ill., 7 and 6; Otto Greiner, Baltimore, 2 and 1; Glenn Oatman, Kansas City, 3 and 1; Steve Kovach, Pittsburgh, 5 and 4; and Riegel.

Abbott's record shows a two up win over John Vavra, Cedar Rapids, Ia.; 3 and 2 over Wilford Wehrle, Chicago; two up over Harry Todd of Dallas; 3 and 2 over Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and his triumph over Bishop.

WHITNEYS HOPE TO PROVE THEIR BARNS HOLD WINNER AT SARATOGA SPRINGS

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 30—(AP)—The Whitneys hope to prove to the racing world today that one or other of their barns holds the nation's outstanding two-year-old championship claimant.

With five of the eight horses in the $42,000 hopeful, closing day feature at the elm-studded spa course, the family still has to produce the horse that can whip the vastly improved Ramilles, owned by Walter P. Chrysler, Jr. Ramilles, a maiden, finished second in his only two starts.

The Whitneys have everything in the race from the odds-on favorite to a well-liked dark horse. The favorites are shut out and Devil Diver, owned by Mrs. Payne Whitney, and Amphitheatre, the property of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Shipman Payson. The dark horse is C. V. Whitney's Coat of Arms, a strapping son of Equipoise which raced remarkably well in his only start earlier in the week.

Well, the show's over at Polo and the curtain fell last night on the softball drama at the lighted high school field. Standing in the spotlight, front stage, as the curtain came down was the undefeated Brookville team which pushed the Coopers backstage in the last act of the big show with a 10 to 9 score. It left the supporting cast all clustered around second place with three teams sharing that position.

In the first game last night the Farm Bureau defeated Naylons, 13 to 7. Winning pitcher was Grossnickle who allowed nine hits. Losing moulder was Unger who gave off only eight hits, but his mates were marked up with 10 errors.

In the nightcap victory the Brookers got eight hits off the pitching of Adams and Hess was the winning pitcher and he gave off 10 hits.

BRITISH TO EVACUATE

Tokyo, Aug. 30—(AP)—A mass evacuation of British subjects from the Japanese empire was indicated today in a British embassy announcement that it had arranged for a ship to come to Japan to remove all British nationals desiring to leave.

As the Japanese government studied closely its delicate relations with both Great Britain and the United States as a result of the Russian-German war, the British embassy issued the following statement:
"In view of freezing regulations a number of British subjects have declared their intention of leaving Japan at the first opportunity. To facilitate their departure the British government will shortly send a ship to Japan."

There are about 1,000 Britons living throughout the empire.
The freezing of British and American funds in Japan followed similar tying up of Japanese assets in the United States and the British empire.
Throughout all Japan tonight each British subject was to receive from his consul a letter following the lines of the embassy statement.

Minister To Report

The Japanese government for the moment turned its principal attention to the United States, getting a detailed report on the American situation from the minister to Washington, Kameo Wakasugi, who arrived here today and immediately went into conference with Foreign Minister Teigoro Toyoda.
Wakasugi, who arrived as saying that "the anti-war movement still is being staged by (Col. Charles A.) Lindbergh factions and (Senator) Wheeler but it doesn't reach a state as to induce the government to reconsider its policy."

A group of members of the Japanese diet (parliament) met this afternoon to discuss the question of American oil shipments to Russia by way of the Far East. Afterwards they gave a statement to the government, contents of which were not disclosed immediately.
The Tokyo stock market generally was stronger as a result of the conference in Washington between Roosevelt and Admiral Nomura.

Suspect Will County Fugitives of Peoria Robberies in Night

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 30—(AP)—Two robberies on Peoria's south side spurred a police hunt today for two of the four men who escaped from the Will county jail last Monday—James LaRue, who was fighting extradition to Florida where he escaped in 1933 from a prison road camp, and Charles Flamini of Chicago Heights, Ill.
Last night James Frede of East Peoria, filling station attendant, was robbed of his wallet containing a small amount of money after one of two men struck him over the head with a pistol.
The second crime was committed this morning in a grocery store operated by Al Schoch, who told police a robber took $40 from the cash register. As the intruder was leaving Schoch knocked him down. During a struggle the robber's pistol was discharged, but the bullet passed out a window. The robber then seized a bottle, knocked Schoch unconscious with it, and escaped. He left a green hat, which police said was purchased at a Joliet store.
From descriptions furnished by the victims, J. Edward Wombacher, superintendent of police, said he believed the robbers were the two remaining fugitives from the Joliet jail. The other two, George Mathis and Victor Rossi, were captured by a state policeman Tuesday night.

Petition Asks Discharge Of Penitentiary Official

Chicago, Aug. 30—(AP)—A petition for the discharge of John Appen, industrial superintendent of the state penitentiary at Pontiac, on the ground he permitted the use of convict labor on private projects was filed today with the state civil service commission.
The petition was submitted by George E. Larson, assistant warden at Pontiac, who said that Appen had been suspended Aug. 9 for 30 days pending an investigation.
Larson alleged that Appen sent convicts to do repair work on buildings and grounds at the farm of Walter Gilman, about a mile and a half from the penitentiary. Appen also served as superintendent of the prison honor farm.
Appen's attorneys requested a continuance before testimony was heard and when Ray F. Thiesse, assistant attorney general, did not object Commissioner John V. Clinch, presiding, continued the case on call until the commission's next hearing in Chicago, the date for which was not set.

conclusion that the United States has decided to pursue a much more far-reaching and forceful policy in the Far East.
That policy, as Tokyo sees it, would set the clock back on Japan's program for control of Asia and vastly extend American influence in the Orient.
For one thing Tokyo undoubtedly believes America has determined on such an extensive all-out aid for China as will render it impossible for Japan either to complete her conquest or to hold the territory which she already has taken. On top of that Washington is going ahead with material assistance for Russia in the war against Hitler—and Japan is desperately worried lest these supplies be turned against her in event of Russo-Japanese trouble.
But back on the far grim view, Tokyo sees on the far horizon the smoke from the funnels of the United States navy—and is afraid we are getting set for action.
Japan is in a mighty uncomfortable position. No friends in Asia—surrounded by countries hostile to her operations—no money—economically at sixes and sevens—astride the Chinese tiger and finding it impossible either to ride it or to dismount.
The bond with the axis, upon which Japan has banked so much, doesn't look so good as it did, for despite Hitler's successes in Russia the allies are in far better position than they were a few months ago. Anyway, Germany is too far away to aid Japan in event of another war in the Pacific.
So Japan wants to make her peace with America—to get the smoke of the United States warships out of her eyes. That would call for vast reparations on her part, and we must wait to see how far she is prepared to go.

By THE WAY

We probably shall find that one reason for the Hitler-Mussolini meeting was the fuhrer's need of a blood transfusion for his fighting forces, because of his heavy loss of first-line troops in Russia. It Duce has a great reserve of youth, trained and ready for the firing line, and it's likely he will be called upon soon to march them out.
The two dictators undoubtedly discussed the possibility of a joint offensive in the Near East—possibly through Turkey—in conjunction with the German drive along the northern coast of the Black Sea towards the Caucasus. Should this materialize, Hitler also would want Italian naval assistance in the Black Sea and the Aegean.

Long Arms Efforts By Uncle Sam Seen; May Last Ten Years

New York—(The Special News Service)—American industry, eyeing the rounding out of the second year of war abroad, hitched up its belt and spit on its hands today, redoubling arms-building efforts which may occupy its major attention for some time to come.
Two years of war between Great Britain and Germany, with this nation feeding supplies into British hands—it was just two years ago that war was declared—have wrought vast mill and factory changes in the United States.
Existing ordnance plants are racing through orders at top capacity.
Peace-time industries wholesale have shifted production from civilian consumer goods to defense lines.
New airplane, tank, gun, ammunition and other ordnance plants have sprung up galore.
More expansion is due.
Defense activity, after an early "grab and produce" era, finally has been centered in a seven-man board headed by Vice-President Wallace.
But the most significant thing about defense that must be recognized generally, sooner or later, the experts say, is this:
Arms building is no sudden fancy which will pass in a year or so, like mah jong or miniature golf.
Buildings to Continue
No matter whether it is war or peace in Europe in 1942 or 1943, building of defense weapons here is likely to continue indefinitely. Some say it may take as long as a decade to provide the final top layer of the barricade of warships and planes to be erected around the U. S.
Sources close to President Roosevelt say he is planning a defense effort predicated on the possibility of a long war.

Harrisburgers Danced To Help Fight Fires

Nero may have fiddled while Rome burned, but the citizens of Harrisburg danced to get equipment for their firemen, according to the Illinois Writers' Project.
W. P. A.
It was in 1882 that the Harrisburg Hook and Ladder Company was organized and in September of that year a ball and supper was given to raise funds for fire fighting outfits. The supper was given in Armory hall and the dance in a new store building.
Both affairs were successful, socially and financially, the Harrisburg Chronicle-Sentinel reported. It was stated that "the door receipts footed up $60.90" and that the dance hall "wall illuminated with Chinese lanterns, making a grand and beautiful display."
Dancing began early and supper was served at 10 p. m. to those who did not dance. Then at 11 o'clock, the dancers went to the Armory for supper; later returned to the store and danced until 2 a. m.

Waitress Reassured by Little Old Man, 82

Kansas City, Aug. 30—(AP)—"Don't alarmed," assured the little fellow at the front table. "I always eat this much."
Waitress Eula Willis cleared away the luncheon dishes after the 5 foot, 6 inch customer had consumed:
Navy bean soup, sausage and fried apples, pig shanks and sauerkraut, potatoes, vanilla ice cream, red raspberries, apple-sauce cake, a quart of milk, two cups of coffee, six hard rolls and 15 chunks of butter.
"I'm 82 years old and it hasn't hurt me yet," he said.
The bill was $2.10.

Accident Near Brookville—
(Telegraph Special Service)
Polo, Aug. 30—Rollo Schrader, 18, of Freeport, was painfully injured in an automobile accident at Brookville last evening about 5 o'clock, when his car was reported to have side-swiped a machine driven by Harvey Good of Polo. The Freeport man suffered a fractured arm, extensive lacerations and numerous body bruises. A Polo physician, who was summoned to attend him, removed Schrader to the Deaconess hospital at Freeport. Good escaped injury and both machines were badly damaged.

Record License Business—

The marriage license department in County Clerk Sterling Schrock's office at the court house today broke all records in recent years when eight couples obtained licenses as follows: Warren C. Huff, East Moline and Miss Dorothy Jane Miller, Dixon; LaVerne Reisinger and Miss Ruth Thompson, Dixon; Donald A. Deneau, Dixon, and Miss Irma F. Freitag, of Kanakake; Theodore O. Folkers and Miss Evelyn P. Davidson, both of Dixon; Lloyd W. Kerley and Miss Helen M. Wedekind, both of Dixon; Floyd L. Smith, Jr., and Miss Jeanette Marie Forney, both of Dixon; Mark M. Middendorf of Peoria and Miss Mary E. Fitzpatrick of Amboy; Daniel O'Brien of Moline and Miss Belma E. Reibuck of Dixon.

Four Enlist in Air Corps—

Four recruits left Dixon this morning for Chicago whence, after being inducted into service, they will proceed to Jefferson Barracks, Mo., to enter training in the Army air corps. Sergeant Emmory Jones, recruiting officer, announced the following enlistments entering service today: Floyd T. Thompson, 215 Madison avenue; Charles E. Roebuck, route 3, Dixon; Paul E. Bollinger of Elmwood and Donald L. Haag of Sterling.

11 Ogle Co. Men Called—

The Ogle county selective service board yesterday received a call for eleven men to report to the induction center in Chicago, Tuesday, Sept. 23, for induction into the United States Army. The selectees, whose names will be published later, will report at the board headquarters in the court house at Oregon Sept. 22 and will spend the night at an Oregon hotel, as they will enroute for Chicago at 5:22 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Mushroom Farmer Not Worried By Droughts, Quotas

St. Louis—(The Special News Service)—H. F. Eisenreich is a dirt farmer who doesn't bother about weather conditions, crop insurance or marketing quotas. He makes his own rain, and hotels contract for his entire crop a year in advance.
A mushroom raiser, Eisenreich does his farming in an old railroad tunnel on the outskirts of the city. He leased the bore through a rocky hillside several years ago when the Frisco railroad decided to double its tracks and found the tunnel too small for the expansion.
Measuring 478 feet in length, 15 feet in width and 40 feet high, the tunnel has only two apertures—the entrance and exit—which Eisenreich has boarded up to maintain a constant temperature without resort to heating or cooling devices.
Temperatures and moisture provide trying problems at times for most farmers, but none at all for Eisenreich.
The average winter temperature inside the tunnel is 56 degrees and in summer it sometimes reaches 60.
"In the summertime when the air is warm outside, all I have to do to start a rain is to open the doors at each end of the tunnel," Eisenreich said.
"Sprinkling System"
"The warm air rushes in, meets the cool air inside, condenses, and from the solid rock ceiling there is a steady drip. I call it my sprinkling system."
Mushrooming, says Eisenreich, is a queer business. "It's a simple thing, yet comparatively few persons succeed at it."
The secret, he says, is in the preparation of the compost or fertilizer in which the mushrooms are planted.
"I have upwards of 5,000 square feet of beds in cultivation the year around," Eisenreich continued. "At intervals as the soil becomes exhausted, I have to tear up the beds and make new ones. The compost I use is one I have developed after experimenting with dozens of different kinds."
Eisenreich who started mushroom growing as a hobby, gathers an average of 75 pounds daily on advance orders from St. Louis hotels and restaurants which consume his whole crop and clamor for more.
"There are larger mushroom farms than mine," says Eisenreich "but none so big with proper temperatures and moisture maintained by nature free of charge."

Nazi's Thrust

dealt with American-Japanese relations.
In Rome the five-day sessions which ended yesterday were understood by political circles to have dealt with raw materials and the means to supply them to continue the war in its third year.
Of food there is enough, it was said, but other necessities of modern war-making remained to be found—particularly oil, without which the panzers and planes and submarines might as well not exist.
Coming through the Italian censorship along with this unusual acknowledgment was word from well-informed political sources that Premier Mussolini had agreed to supply as many Italian soldiers for the front and workers for Germany as Hitler might require.
The same sources said it was assumed that the Fuehrer and Il Duce discussed means of bringing all Europe, including nervously neutral Portugal and Turkey, into a solid "new order" front against the possibility of British or American invasion.
Answer to Sea Parley
Both in Rome and Berlin, the axis meeting was pictured as an answer to the talks of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill at sea earlier this month.
German writers contended the Hitler-Mussolini program was "clearer and more constructive" than the eight points enunciated by Roosevelt and Churchill. Those points, the Germans said, contained the "makings of new wars" and repeated "Wilsonian phrases and injustices."
Leningrad's peril grew ominously closer.
The Finns reported a thrust to Kievennana, 30 miles north of the old czarist capital, along with capture of the ruined city of Viipuri. 75 miles north.
The Finns said three soviet divisions were smashed in the retaking of their second most important city, Viipuri.
The Germans reported a steady cleanup of the Estonian pocket of Russian resistance to the west was costing the Red army and navy many men and ships and increasing the menace to Leningrad by sea and air.
Though Viipuri was a smoking waste when the Finns pushed in, its capture was a sweet victory for Finland, which was forced to concede that second city of the republic to Russia as part of the spoils of the 1939-40 war. More than 40,000 Finns, who had left rather than come under Russian rule, already have declared they will return to Viipuri as soon as the army permits.

Senate Committee

ference. Such major changes as the lowered income tax exemptions might provoke considerable discussion.
Under the senate committee measure, taxpayers with income up to $3,000 would pay much heavier taxes but would be given a break in making out their returns. An "automatic form" approved by the committee would permit those with $3,000 and less income to make out returns merely by computing their income and then consulting an accompanying table to ascertain the tax.
New Form Optional
Taxpayers in that group, however, would have the option of using the special form or of making out their taxes on the present form. In some cases a taxpayer would save a little by choosing between the two forms.
As examples of how the measure would operate, when regular forms were used, a single man with no dependents and an $800 income would pay $3 compared with nothing under the house bill and nothing at present. If he had a $2,000 income, he would pay $117 under the committee bill, $110 under the house bill and $44 under the present law. With a $5,000 income, his liability would be $483, $473 and $172, respectively.
A married man with no dependents and a $2,000 income would pay $42 under the committee plan compared with nothing under the house bill and nothing under the present law. With $3,000, he would pay $138, $85.80 and $30.80. With $5,000, he would pay $375, $308 and $110.

Moderate Heat Wave Due This Week End

Chicago, Aug. 30—(AP)—Government forecasters said today that a moderate heat wave which hit most of the nine-state north central district yesterday would break up gradually over the Labor Day weekend.
It was warm today in practically all areas south of a line running east and west from central South Dakota through extreme southern Minnesota, southern Wisconsin and Michigan.
There were general showers in the last 24 hours from North Dakota to northern Michigan, and heavy rain in northern Minnesota, northern Wisconsin and upper Michigan. Phillips, Wis., reported the heaviest, 6.73 inches. Madison, Wis., had a thunderstorm about 10 a. m. (CST) today.

Five Army Aviators Die in Two Accidents

March Field, Calif., Aug. 30—(AP)—Five army fliers were killed and two critically injured in the flaming crashes of three airplanes yesterday.
Two P-17 training ships locked wings in a formation flight of three and they crashed and caught fire eight miles east of here, killing all four occupants.
Earlier a B-25 attack bomber crashed near Los Angeles Municipal airport four minutes after it had taken off on a planned two hour test flight. One was killed and two were injured.

Anglo-Russo Terms of Peace Given to Iran

London, Aug. 30—(AP)—British-Russian terms for a settlement in Iran are being presented to the government at Teheran, authoritative quarters declared today.
The terms were not disclosed since it was not known definitely here whether they had reached the Iranian government.
It was assumed, however, that the allied forces would undertake to interfere as little as possible with internal conditions in Iran.
The terms, however, would be intended to safeguard the Anglo-Iranian Company oil fields and a supply route across Iran to Russia from the Persian gulf. Removal of all German agents in Iran also would be required.
Great Britain uses about 5,500,000 matches and throws away 30,000,000 empty boxes annually.
Human beings are able to live about four days without water.

Dangers of Disease Threatens Ill-Fed Masses of Europe

Red Cross Prepares to Face Conditions of Famine, Epidemics

Geneva — (Correspondence of The Special News Service)—Fearing famine and epidemic may come to war-ravaged Europe, the International Red Cross is preparing for the worst.

Although Europe has been surprisingly free from epidemics in two years of warfare—despite the exposure of civilian masses to rigorous conditions of life, despite bombings and mass migrations—officials express fear for the coming winter and spring.

Ordinarily, relief for civilian war victims and needy populations hard hit by war is a job for the National Red Cross societies.

But two agencies at International Red Cross headquarters are jointly creating a stock of anti-epidemic serums, to be kept ready in customs-free Geneva depots and sent anywhere in Europe where an epidemic may break out.

Special Plea

A special plea was made to North American and South American Red Cross groups to send all anti-epidemic serums and medical supplies which they could possibly spare.

As Europe's rations go down to the absolute minimum for bare existence, the health of Europe's populations is naturally affected. Infants and children in France, Belgium and other occupied, and in Belgium and particular are showing serious effects of malnutrition, the Red Cross finds.

The situation in country regions naturally is better than in the towns and large cities, and food supplies in some towns are better than in others.

An almost total lack of fat is the thing which is noticed most. Many people are suffering from skin diseases caused by insufficient fats in their diet. Many people died of cold last winter who, properly fed, would have been expected to withstand the cold.

While the Red Cross realizes that adequate food rations are better than vitamin substitutes and medicines, getting the food to the people who need it is another problem. European stocks are dwindling gradually and there are fewer and fewer countries where food can be bought by Red Cross money.

Only Real Markets

Portugal and Turkey remain the only real markets, and large-scale transport problems impede food movement from those countries to most of the occupied countries of Europe.

Getting overseas foodstuffs is another headache because of the British blockade. Latin American Red Cross societies have long been willing to send quantities of wheat, canned meats and other foods to Europe's occupied areas provided the International Red Cross could get British navies.

British authorities agreed to grant navies if the Red Cross could get a double edged guarantee from the German government. The first condition was that all foodstuffs and other necessities sent for distribution to needy women, children, and the sick in areas under German occupation or control would reach these people and none else. This condition was agreed to by the Germans. Whenever they have given this guarantee to the Red Cross, officials say, they have kept their agreement.

The second condition, however, was not agreed to by the Germans. This was that the German authorities must guarantee not to take out from the country in question local supplies equivalent to the amounts sent in by the Red Cross.

Until the German government can give such an assurance, British say they will give no navies, and Latin American gifts still are awaiting shipment on the other side of the ocean.

President Waging War, Congress Is Not, Says Rep. Day Last Evening

Washington, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Representative Day (R-Ill.) declared in a radio address last night that the conclusion was irresistible "that the president is waging war but the congress is not."

"I speak," Day said, "not for myself alone, but for the congress of the United States. The war today in America is a war between the congress and the president. Supporting the congress are 83 per cent of the American people."

"When the history of this period is recorded it will be said that the representative form of government was vindicated through the triumph of the people's representatives in the congress who successfully preserved the Constitution of the United States against usurpation by the president. The vote of 203 to 202 (in favor of) on the extension of the draft shows that the fight will be won."

Housewives' donations during the recent scrap collection should permit construction of 2000 more fighters or 800 additional four-engine bombers.

OHIO

MRS. ESTHER JACKSON
Reporter

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Saltzman and C. D. Saltzman were business callers in Dixon Wednesday morning.

The Good House keeper's club will meet Tuesday afternoon Sept. 3rd at the home of Mrs. Esther Jackson, with Mrs. Nellie Doran assistant hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Sisler, Jr. returned home Wednesday evening from their honeymoon trip to Lake Geneva, and will begin house keeping at once in an apartment at the home of Mrs. Mary Meyer.

Mrs. Hazel Fane and daughter Joan of Dixon, Mrs. Nell Shepard of Van Orin, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Anderson and family and the Misses Lena Lane and Florence Scallan were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Duffy.

Mrs. Doris Burnip and the girls of the Junior department of the Women's Society of Christian Service gave a Silver Tea Wednesday afternoon in the Methodist church. After a very interesting program which was given in the church auditorium the hostesses and their guests repaired to the church parlors for a social hour. Tea and cookies were served with Patsy Johnson presiding at the refreshment table. About 30 ladies were present and each one was presented with a lovely rose bud.

Funeral services for J. V. Havens aged 87, were held Thursday morning at 10 o'clock at the Norberg Memorial Home in Princeton with Rev. Leslie Matson, pastor of the Christian church in charge of the service. With the exception of 14 years when he lived in Missouri, Mr. Havens had spent most of his life in Bureau county. Since the death of his wife 17 years ago, he had made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Hawkins in East Grove township, Lee county, where he passed away early Tuesday morning. He is survived by his daughter, Mrs. Alice Hawkins, three grandchildren, Mrs. Elma Bracey of Princeton, Mrs. Selma McMahon of Keokuk, and Mrs. Gertrude Durham of Dixon; also several great-grandchildren.

Burial was made in Union cemetery in Ohio.

Mrs. A. S. Poole and Mrs. Dewey Johnson received word Wednesday night of the death of their sister Mrs. Jessie Corbin Stone at her home in Placerville, California.

Funeral services for Mrs. Tillie Noonan who passed away Monday morning at her home on Lawn Hill in this city were held Wednesday morning at the church of the Immaculate Conception and burial was made in St. Mary's cemetery. She is survived by one son Charles A. of this city and five sisters. Her husband and a son preceded her in death.

Mr. and Mrs. Manning Barkman of Freeport were guests Sunday of their aunt, Mrs. Cora Barkman.

The first of a series of "Kidnap" breakfasts was held Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Edith Saltzman with Mrs. Mary Rickert, assistant hostess.

The ladies ten in number were called for in Mrs. Rickert's car without any previous warning and literally kidnapped from their various household tasks, no change in being allowed under penalty of a fine. Needless to say there were many surprises and a lot of fun. And the delicious breakfast at Mrs. Saltzman's home was thoroughly enjoyed. The idea was originated by Circle No. 3 of the Methodist church, to raise funds for the church and any lady of the community whether a member of the Circle or not is liable to be "kidnaped and taken for a ride" without a moments warning.

Postmaster and Mrs. Conrad Knuth moved Thursday from their Meyer apartment to their new home on South Main street which they recently purchased from the Bolboch estate. Ed Rehm and family who formerly occupied the Bolboch residence have moved into the Hickett home and the Misses Caroline and Esther Hickey have gone to Cleveland, Ohio where they will reside.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lee Shultz on Wednesday morning Aug. 27th at the Perry Memorial hospital in Princeton.

Red Cross Cares For Prisoners of War in Europe

Delegates Are Allowed to Visit Internment Camps

Geneva (Correspondence of The Special News Service)—The lot of civilians interned in enemy lands has been better in this war than it was in 1914-1918, International Red Cross officials report.

Delegates from the international office have been allowed to visit internment camps, have suggested improvements and obtained the liberation or repatriation of certain groups—not, of course, including men of military age.

Civilian nationals of belligerent countries caught and interned by an enemy, while not protected like prisoners of war by an International Red Cross convention, have been made the concern of the Geneva Red Cross committee on prisoners.

Most belligerents accepted the Red Cross suggestion that civilian internees be placed under the protection of a war convention of 1929.

Messages concerning whereabouts and welfare of civilian internees received by the Geneva Prisoners' Bureau already have totaled more than 1,500,000.

Inspectors Visit Camps

Red Cross inspectors are permitted by all belligerent countries to visit the camps of prisoners of war and camps of internees. These inspection trips are made in an effort to insure that food, housing, clothing, health conditions and medical treatment are as adequate as possible; that religious or intellectual needs are being looked after.

Delegates have been given the right to walk freely about the camp. To speak with the prisoners with no military authorities present, and to hear any complaints which the prisoners' own representative—the "man of confidence"—may have to make concerning conditions or treatment of his fellows.

Detailed reports on conditions in the camps are then prepared and sent by the delegates to the government holding the prisoners and to the government whose prisoners are being held.

May Suggest Improvements

Delegates are free to suggest improvements in camp conditions while they are on the spot. Where necessary, the committee at Geneva intervenes to make sure that these suggestions will be carried out. In many cases conditions are improved with the understanding that similar improvements will be made in the prison camps of the enemy.

Medical missions composed of two neutral doctors and one doctor of the belligerent country where the camps are located have been appointed to visit badly wounded and sick prisoners.

Trainloads of maimed, wounded and ill French prisoners have crossed Switzerland since last autumn en route to their homes or hospitals in unoccupied France. In the same way wounded British prisoners in Germany and Italy, German and Italian prisoners in Britain, and Greek prisoners in Italy have been repatriated under the auspices of the International Red Cross.

(Informed sources in Vichy said last week that "a relatively important percentage" of French prisoners released by the Germans are suffering from tuberculosis.)

Super-Medical Draft Advisory Board Will Review Rejections

Chicago, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Creation of a super-medical draft advisory board for Illinois, which will review the cases of all draft registrants rejected for physical defects, was announced yesterday by Paul G. Armstrong, state director of selective service.

Known as medical advisory board No. 39, the super-board will act in an advisory capacity to the 38 regular medical advisory or appeal boards in Illinois. It also is organized for a rehabilitation program which was expected to add several thousand men to the list of those eligible for the army.

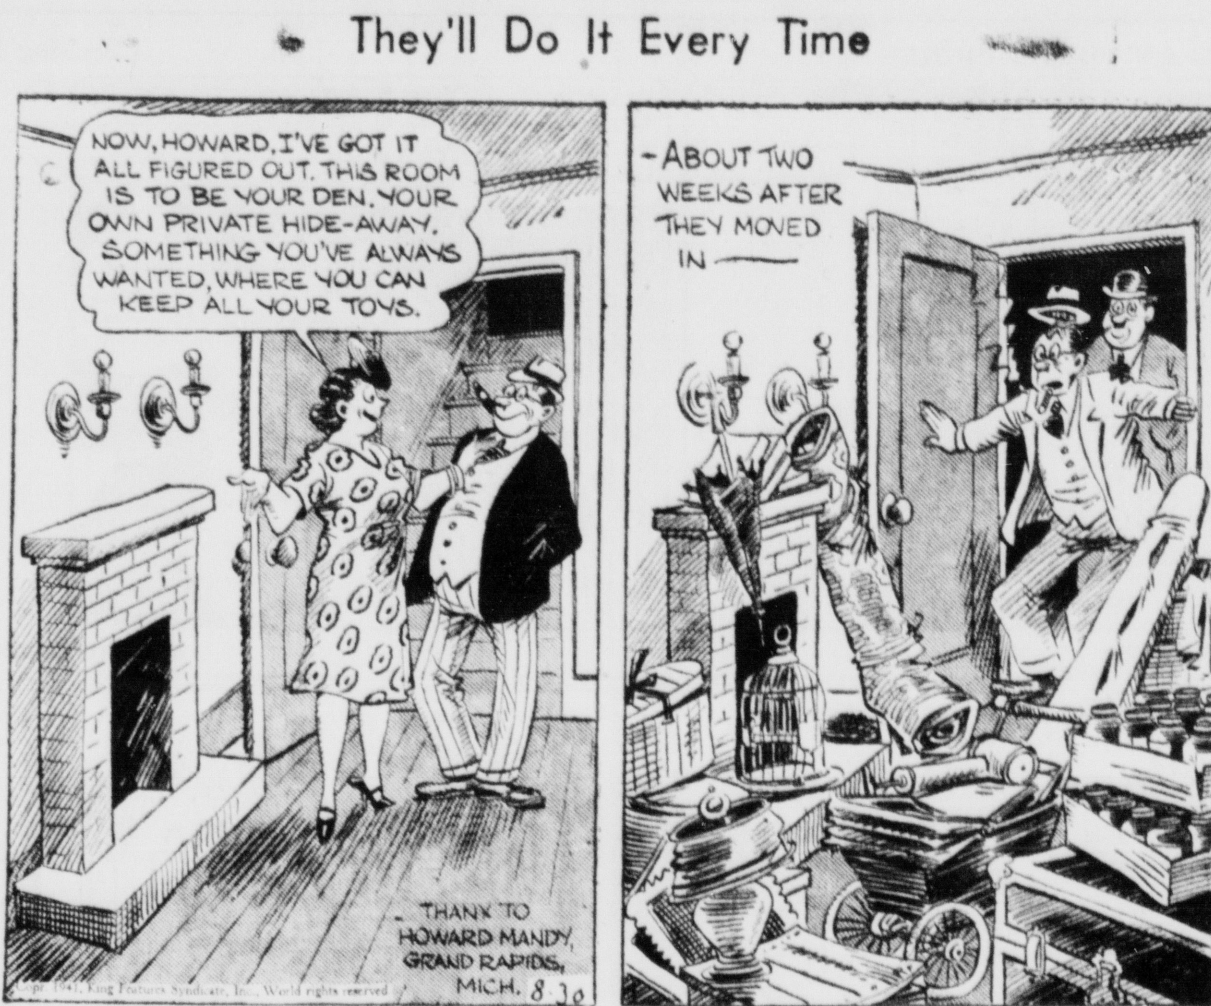

Maj. E. Mann Hartlett, acting state medical officer for selective service, said the restoration of 6,000 men previously rejected to the list of army eligibles, as a result of the board's work, would be a conservative estimate.

Unfamiliarity with the new experience of draft examinations, changing army standards and new interpretations would account for most of the 6,000, he said.

ROMANCE OF POOLS

Chicago, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Holdovers of many world backstroke swimming records, Adolph Kiefer, 23, and Joyce Kainer, 21, member of a Chicago water ballet, were married last night, culminating a romance of the swimming pools.

It has been estimated that American craftsmen, engineers and management in 1942 will be making more airplanes by 50 per cent than any other nation in the world.

Swiss Rails Carry Tons of Gifts To War Prisoners

Geneva — (Correspondence of The Special News Service)—The packages of mercy—gifts of food, clothing, tobacco, soap and books—are moving smoothly to the millions left in prison by Europe's war in the west.

But officials of the International Red Cross already are grappling with the problem of new armies of prisoners on the eastern front between Russia and Germany.

Postal bags of prisoners' packages are piled high in the warehouses of Geneva's railway station.

The packages come from relatives and friends, from Red Cross chapters or other humanitarian agencies in the homelands.

In each prisoners' camp there is a "man of confidence" appointed by the prisoners from among their group to find out what men have no relatives or friends in a position to send them packages. These lists are then sent to National Red Cross societies or other organizations.

Some 20,000 Polish prisoners whose families had disappeared or were unable to send them any sort of relief were thus helped after the Polish campaign.

Faced with the problem of almost two million French prisoners in camps all over Germany and occupied France whose needs were very great in the summer of 1940, a Red Cross committee organized mass collections and deliveries of food, clothes, medical supplies, jam and tobacco.

Fifteen hundred freight cars and trucks carried 20,000,000 pounds of bread, canned foods and clothes to French prisoners as gifts of the French Red Cross.

British prisoners in Germany, feared less well for a long while, because transport difficulties across Spain were holding up British Red Cross packages for months at a time.

Months En Route

Later in the year negotiations at Lisbon enabled packages to be shipped to Mediterranean ports, thus avoiding the uncertain rail trip across Spain. Even now, it usually takes about four months before packages from America reach the camps.

Carl J. Burckhardt, active member of the International Red Cross committee since his post as League of Nations high commissioner at Danzig was suppressed, says every British prisoner now is able to receive at least one package a week.

Almost as important as physical needs of prisoners are their intellectual and recreational needs. Already more than 250,000 books have been sent to prisoners' camps, of which 18,000 were sent directly by the International Red Cross.

Sports equipment and musical instruments are other welcome gifts in prison camps, where "barbed-wire-phonics" is a constant danger.

Boston Detective Is Elected Head of VFW

Philadelphia, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Max Singer of Brighton, Mass., a detective inspector and fingerprint expert in the Boston police force, was elected national commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Friday.

The election was by acclamation and was unanimous. Singer moved up from the office of senior vice commander-in-chief.

Robert T. Merrill of Haver, Mont., a lawyer and special referee for the U. S. department of labor, who had been junior vice commander-in-chief, moved up to senior vice commander-in-chief.

The veterans adjourned without selecting a city for the 1942 meeting, since five cities which bid for it had not met the financial requirements. The bidders were Atlantic City, Detroit, Hollywood, Indianapolis and Seattle.

Frances Perkins Blames CIO-AFL Split for Strikes

New York — (AP)— Looking back over eight years as secretary of labor, Frances Perkins blames the split between the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations for the failure of collective bargaining to settle more disputes without strikes.

Writing in the September issue of Fortune magazine, the nation's first woman cabinet officer describes the A. F. L.-C. I. O. schism as "largely an internal fight for control," and declares that "a reunion could be made tomorrow without ugly scars of hatred and rancor between the wage earners in each group."

"I have been called incompetent (and worse) because I have not prevented strikes," Miss Perkins writes, "and I am aware that there is a theory that if I were a two-fisted male I should be able to stop strikes."

Answers Arguments

"The accusation that I am a woman is incontrovertible. As for being two-fisted, I'm sure that it is unrealistic and lacking in human knowledge to believe that getting tough or cracking down on working people would make things better. There have been two-fisted males in this office and strikes were never prevented, because no secretary of labor has ever had the authority or the power directly to stop strikes, and it is doubtful if any clear thinking citizen would be willing to give to any agency of government the absolute right and power to interfere with other citizens."

"The only power I have," she declares, "is to act as labor's spokesman in the government."

She says that collective bargaining, carried on with mutual responsibility and intention to conclude a bargain, is a constructive process, and labor's spokesman in the government.

She says that collective bargaining, carried on with mutual responsibility and intention to conclude a bargain, is a constructive process, and labor's efforts to organize are not disorderly.

"The AFL-CIO split was largely an internal fight for control, in which the idea of vertical unions was only a minor issue. At all times I have tried to bring the two factions together, always appointing representatives of both groups to committees and advisory boards."

Urges Peace

"I have urged John Lewis (former head of the C. I. O.) over and over again to make peace with the A. F. L., and he has said over and over again that he expected to make peace 'when the right time comes'."

"The president wrote Mr. Lewis a letter asking him to make peace. That irked Mr. Lewis. It was after that that he called me 'wooly' in the head. I received letters and telegrams from labor organizations (both A. F. L. and C. I. O.) asking me to keep trying to make peace."

Two Put to Death in California Gas Cell

San Quentin, Calif., Aug. 30.—(AP)—A strange young man who resisted every effort for clemency in his behalf, was executed Friday at the side of another convict for whom he had formed an odd attachment.

The two, Eldon Hawk, 26, and John Lininger, 40, died in the gas chamber. The murderers asked that they be buried side by side. They first met in the death house.

After they were strapped in the two chairs in the chamber, the men spoke to each other, but witnesses could not hear them.

The heads of both fell almost simultaneously. They were pronounced dead in nine minutes.

The two were convicted of separate murders.

Gov. Green, State Assembly Praised by Labor Leader

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Raymond Edmundson, state president of the United Mine Workers and downstate director of the C. I. O., claimed last night in a letter to Philip Murray, national C. I. O. president, that Illinois had "made more advances in behalf of labor than any other state in the nation" during the recent legislative session.

The letter, also sent to John T. Jones, director of labor's Non-Partisan League, said that "the C. I. O. of Illinois played a major role in securing enactment of important labor and social legislation and in defeating every single anti-labor proposal."

Edmundson also gave Governor Green credit for a part in the labor legislation enacted.

"The 'bottleneck' of labor's whole legislative program," Edmundson wrote, "was lack of co-operation by Reuben C. Soderstrom, president of the Illinois State Federation of Labor, with all elements of labor as well as other liberal forces of this state."

The Illinois C. I. O. leader accused Soderstrom of doing "everything possible to sabotage the 'little Wagner act,'" which was defeated in the legislature.

Edmundson's letter also attacked Martin P. Durkin, state Director of Labor, for his refusal to award unemployment compensation to miners who were idle during April of this year while eastern coal operators and representatives of the C. I. O. United Mine Workers Union were deadlocked in negotiations for a new scale contract to replace that which expired on March 31.

In the letter, Edmundson said the work stoppage was due to the closing of mines by operators "due to accumulated stocks of coal." He charged the decision of the labor director was political and "a penalty" for the United Mine Workers' "official position in the last election."

U. S. Agriculture Department Says Food Prices Low

Consumer Complaints Evoke Statistical Reports

Washington — (The Special News Service)—Consumer complaints about rising food costs have evoked a statistical report from the agriculture department to the effect that such prices are still too low when compared with non-food items.

The housewife says the department, would be paying $1.11 for groceries she now gets for $1 if food prices were in line with non-agricultural products.

Suppose, the department adds, that food prices were what they were in 1929—a year in which most urban folk were said to be unusually prosperous and well satisfied, at least until the stock market crash late in the year. What would consumers be paying for their groceries?

The department cites figures to show that prices would be about 10 per cent more than they are at present.

National Food Bill

With a national food bill of about $16,000,000,000 for domestically produced farm products, the nation as a whole was said by the department to be getting its food for about $1,750,000,000 less than it would be paying if 1929 price relationships prevailed.

The department says retail food prices during the first half of 1941 averaged just 79 per cent of the 1929 level compared with 74 per cent in the first six months of 1940. Early in August they were said to have been 81 per cent of the 1929 level.

Advances in factory wages during the first half of this year were much greater, the department says, than advances in food prices. The average factory wage was said to have been $1.372 per employed worker for the six-month period, an increase of $192 over the same period last year and $70 over 1929.

"Obviously, with earnings during the first six months of 1941 somewhat above those of 1929 and food prices 21 per cent lower, the purchasing power of these earnings in exchange for food is substantially greater than in 1929," the department states.

Looking at the matter from another way, the department says the average factory worker paid out a third of his wages for food in 1929, but only a fourth now.

Budget for Worker

At prices prevailing during the first six months of this year, the annual food budget for the average worker was estimated to be $327. This was said to be $13 more than in 1940 but $88 less than in 1929.

"In 1929, after paying $415 for food, the average factory worker had left $887," the department says. "So far this year, after deducting $327 as the present annual cost for the same quantity of food, the average factory worker has left $1045 which he may spend for other things or for more expensive foods."

The department states that the amount of money left over above food costs is approximately 18 per cent greater than in 1929.

Ruth McCormick Wed to Rockford Man Yesterday

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 30.—(AP)—The younger daughter of the late United States Senator Medill McCormick and the former Illinois congresswoman, Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick Simms, was enjoying a short honeymoon today.

Ruth Elizabeth McCormick, 20, was married to Maxwell Peter Miller, Jr., 22, of Rockford, yesterday in the Middle Creek Presbyterian church, in simple ceremonies before a small group of relatives and family friends.

Notables present for the ceremony included Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune and an uncle of the bride; General and Mrs. Charles G. Dawes of Evanston; Mrs. Margaret Ailsie of Boise, Idaho, publisher of the Idaho Statesman; Gen. Robert Wood of Chicago.

The Rev. Harry P. Armstrong performed the ceremony in which Albert Gallatin Simms of Albuquerque, N. M., gave his stepdaughter.

The couple will live in Rock

MY STARS, OOOOLA! HOW MUCH FARTHER DO YOU SUPPOSE HE CHASED THEM?

SHHH! LISTEN, DOCTOR... I THINK I HEARD HIM

NO DOUBT OF IT, OOOOLA... THAT'S OOP ALL RIGHT

THERE, YOU BLASTED YAPS! HOW DYA LIKE THAT ONE?

WHOP! WHAM! WHAM!

AN' HERE'S ANOTHER ONE FOR YUH!

WELL, FOR HEAVEN'S SAKE! ALLEY! WHAT ON EARTH...

Mobile Medical Unit Is Used in U. S. War Games

(AP)—With the Army in Louisiana — a tougher job for the medical service but Col. Robert McDonald, Third army surgeon, said today
the service has developed sufficient mobility to tend wounded comrades in modern battles.

The new four-wheel drive machines bearing hospital supplies and doing ambulance duty in the Third army maneuvers manage to keep pace with all the army's rapid mechanized advances.

"The medical service must be as fast as the rest of the army," said Col. McDonald, veteran medical officer. "We do it too, with equipment capable of tough cross-country going and with light and easily set up facilities."

Expected to arrive soon for use in the inter-army games next month is the army's first rolling laboratory staffed with specialists and equipped to counter epidemics and similar emergencies.

Keeping Pace With Army
While keeping pace with the army in the field, the medical service also keeps abreast with latest proven scientific developments.
Every army medicine cabinet now includes new curatives such as sulfanilamides. In addition, the service seeks only men with adequate physical stamina for picked military duty and guards their health against disease.

"For instance," Col. McDonald said, "there isn't any reason for a mother to fear that her son will be out in the woods during our maneuvers without proper medical care. We have taken every precautionary measures and have splendid facilities for furnishing top notch health service."

Advertising Man Gets
$4,200-a-Year Position
Springfield, Ill., Aug. 30.—(AP)—
Governor Green's office today announced the appointment of William H. Murphy of Golf, Ill., an advertising executive, as supervisor of the state insurance department's small loans and bail bonds division.

Murphy succeeds Hiram McCullough of Chicago and will begin his new work Sept. 15.

Murphy, whose new job pays $4-200 a year, was once advertising director for the Chicago Herald and Examiner.

During the first quarter of 1940
Canada produced 958,200 tons of coke from coal.
